Dodd Slated To Present Witnesses

Senator's Linked To Klein's Cash In Misconduct Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee's investigation of misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd takes a new turn today. The Connecticut Democrat gets a chance to present his own witnesses.

John F. Sonnett, Dodd's lawyer, declined to disclose in advance who the witnesses would be — other than Dodd.

A former assistant attorney general, Sonnett said he plans to call five witnesses, with Dodd probably being put on the stand last. Whether Dodd testifies before the day is over depends on how long cross-examination of the other witnesses takes, he said.

The six-member bipartisan committee permitted Sonnett to present two witnesses Thursday following testimony by Dodd's former secretary, Mrs. Marjorie Carpenter. She testifed that the two, David Martin and Gerald Zeiller, had speculated Dodd must have been paid at least $10,000 by Julius Klein for a trip to West Germany in 1964. Martin and Zeiller promptly denied her charge.

Klein is the owner of a Chicago public relations firm and a registered agent for West German interests. The committee is investigating Dodd's relations with him, including an allegation that Dodd made the 1964 trip to West Germany to help Klein keep his clients satisfied.

Most of the testimony has dealt with whether Dodd's trip was made to help Klein hang onto his firm's clients there or, as Dodd maintains, to conduct an investigation for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. He claims he was to look into alleged Soviet terror tactics.

Mrs. Carpenter told the committee that after the senator's trip to Germany she heard two of the senator's aides, Martin and Zeiller, speculate that Klein must have paid Dodd.

Martin and Zeiller took the witness chair in the crowded hearing room moments later and swore that the testimony of the blonde 28-year-old divorcee was false. They testified no such conversation ever took place.

Before Mrs. Carpenter was excused as a witness, Sonnett questioned her about her marital affairs and her relationship with James P. Boyd Jr., Dodd's former administrative assistant.

Boyd earlier had testified that he and Mrs. Carpenter had removed thousands of documents from Dodd's files and turned them over to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson, who wrote a series of articles based on the information. He said they felt this was the only way they could expose what they regarded as the senator's misconduct.

$5,000 Grant For Airfield Tied To Road

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday tentatively granted the County Airport Authority $5,000, representing half the estimated cost of preparing a construction plan.

R. Max Gard of Lisbon, commission president, said the grant is contingent upon vacation of a portion of Madison Township road 916 on the site of Swaney Airport, where the new county field will be located, and the assurance the federal government will make a matching grant of $5,000 for planning.

The airport authority was represented yesterday by Chairman Vincent Laneve of East Liverpool.

If the vacation petition is approved at a hearing Monday,

Athletic System Inquiry Set Here By State Group

An investigation into alleged infractions of basketball and football practice regulations at East Liverpool High School has been scheduled early in August by the Ohio High School Athletic Association.

Paul E. Landis, commissioner of the OHSAA, this week asked Supt. Paul Blair to conduct an inquiry into the reported violations. Blair, in turn, requested Landis and the OHSAA to assist.

Landis said he and Harold A. Meyer, assistant commissioner, will undertake the investigation with Blair.

THE ACTION apparently stemmed from reports in The Review news columns concerning recent Board of Education meetings in which various athletic matters were aired.

The board June 6 voted against retaining Frank Chan as head basketball coach, with violation of policies, including practice out of season, among the charges.

A column by Robert Duffy, Review sports editor, also indicated a Board of Education member was aware of reported violations of football regulations by Robert McNea, grid coach and athletic director.

Blair told Landis he would "cooperate in the fullest" with the commissioner and his aide.

Landis, in a call to Blair Monday, questioned the administrator about the reported violations. Blair said he had been unaware of any such reports until the matter was brought up in connection with the renewal of Chan's contract.

WHEN LANDIS asked the superintendent to conduct an investigation, Blair said he felt the responsibility for an impartial probe should not be placed upon the administration.

Blair said he invited — with the permission of the Board of Education — Landis and Meyer to assist, and they agreed to do so at the earliest date — probably early in August.

Landis said the OHSAA staff will be meeting with the National High School Athletic Association the remainder of June and will be on vacation in July.

Blair, in a statement today, declared, "The most important thing in our school system is the education of our 5,600 students.

"I will not support nor condone any infractions of local policy or state policy in the school administration, in athletics or in any other aspect of the school system.

"I intend to uphold the reputation and integrity of the East Liverpool schools, and have the full support of the board."

It is expected the investigators will interrogate board members, athletic staff members and others in an effort to clarify details of the practice sessions and the alleged violations.

Proven violations of the rules could result in placing a school on probation with the OHSAA or suspension of playing privileges.

Coffins Of 2 Hauled Off

2 Main Buddhist Sites Sealed Off

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Paratroopers and riot police sealed off Hue's two main Buddhist pagodas today and hauled away the coffins of two women who burned themselves to death last month in the Buddhist struggle against Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government.

Ky's men threw up barbed-wire barriers in front of the Dieu De and To Dam pagodas to prevent the Buddhists from holding a public funeral — and probably an antigovernment demonstration — In defiance of a ban by the progovernment mayor and provincial chief, Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa.

The two bodies, of a nun and a 17-year-old girl, had been kept in the Dieu De pagoda since their immolations on May 29 and May 31. The nun was the first of 10 Buddhist suicides by fire which failed to arouse sufficent public horror to bring down Ky's government.

Three Buddhst monks and about 20 soldiers of dubious loyalty also were arrested in the northern Buddhist stronghold, which Ky's forces seized two weeks ago after more than three months of rebellion.

The soldiers detained included a nephew of the Buddhist extremist Thich Tri Quang, now under arrest in a Saigon clinic where he continued a protest fast for the 17th day. Officials said the monk's kinsman provided the Buddhist struggle movement in Hue with arms from the stocks of the Vietnamese army's 1st Division.

U.S. troops fought the Communists at two points in the central highlands. No major South Vietnamese fighting was reported. Eight more Reds were reported killed in Operation Nathan Hale near the coast 240 miles northeast of Saigon when U.S. 1st Air Cavalrymen drew about 150 North Vietnamese regulars into a fight. The losses raised the enemy toll to 347 killed since Monday.

Inland, the 25th Infantry Division killed 15 of the enemy in an encounter with a Communist force of about 150 near Pleiku. The Tropic Lightning Division's kill figure since it began Operation Paul Revere May 10 rose to 425, the U.S. command reported.

160,000 More Take Tests Today

Draft Heads Back Policy To Defer College Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated 160,000 students sit down today to pour over Selective Service draft deferment tests across the country.

And in Washington, Selective Service officials defended their policy of deferring college students from the draft.

The tests may be used by local draft boards in considering student deferments for the school year beginning this fall. It is not mandatory that a student seeking a deferment take them.

This is the last chance to take the tests. In three examination days since May 14, some 830,000 young men have taken them. Science Research Associates, a Chicago educational publishing firm, is conducting the tests for the Selective Service in 1,200 centers across the country.

In the current controversy over the draft, critics have contended that it discriminates against the poor and favors those who can go to college.

One Selective Service spokesman said the cry of preferred treatment for the students was unfounded and unfair.

About 1.8 million young men had 2S student deferments as of June 1, he said.

Another 4.7 million had defer-

Cleveland Area Struck By Violence

Boy, 9, Wounded, Woman Injured In Racial Disorders

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The summer calm in an East Side neighborhood was shattered by violence Thursday night as a young Negro boy was shot and wounded, a white woman was injured by a thrown brick, and shots were fired at two policemen.

Several businesses operated by white men were looted and vandalized.

It was the second night of trouble in the area but police said the situation was brought under control quickly.

The violence erupted along a section of Superior Avenue where Negro and white neighborhoods come together.

Earl Stapler, 30, a Negro, told a newsman, "We want all the white businessmen out of this area, and you can quote me on that. If we can't go into Sowinski Park, then they can't come over here."

The Sowinski area has been a trouble spot before. Racial disturbances broke out there three years ago after a 15-year-old white girl was attacked by a group of Negro youths in the park.

The wounded boy, 9-year-old Stephen Griffin, was reported in fair condition at Mt. Sinai Hospital with a bullet wound in the lower abdomen. His brother, Richard, 16, said a white man fired the shot from a passing convertible.

There appeared to be no reason for the shooting, witnesses said.

Two patrolmen said they were fired on by two men across the street as they drove up in front of a grocery, where a smoke bomb had been thrown through the window. The men who fired on them fled on foot, the officers said.

Vandals tossed canned goods and watermelons out of the store into the street.

Mrs. George Gachko, 36, was struck in the face by a brick thrown through the window of a car in which she and her husband were driving. She was taken to a hospital for X-rays.

Gachko, a machine operator, said the brick came from a group of Negro teen-agers who were standing near an intersection.

Gachko said the youths yelled, "We want freedom."

"It's getting so bad I don't feel safe without a shotgun in the car," he said.

At least a dozen store windows were reported smashed. Police rushed eight cars carrying helmeted officers into the area.

Radar Check Will Continue, Mayor Warns

The police department has instructions to continue regular radar checks on speeding, Mayor George Willshaw said today after nine drivers were cited Thursday afternoon and night on charges of exceeding the 35-mile limit on the three - lane section of St. Clair Ave.

Five of the drivers were fined $10 and costs each today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. Three more are juveniles who will be cited before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon. The hearing for the ninth defendant is set Monday morning.

With one exception, the defendants were accused of driving 45 miles an hour in the 35-mile zone.

Those fined today were:

C. R. Serafy of 1848 Anderson Blvd., William Way of 169 Fawcett St., Thomas Long of Maple Ave., Wellsville, Gary Schneidmiller of 493 Orchard Grove Ave. and Clyde E. Davis of R.D. 2.

House Unit's Proposal

$58 Billion Urged For Defense Funds Starting On July 1

'Arbitrary' Tag Put On Financing

Money Asked On Assumption War Goes On For Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assuming that the war in Viet Nam may go on for another year, the House Appropriations Committee recommended today $58.61 billion in new Defense Department financing for the fiscal year starting July 1.

But the committee, in a report by Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., emphasized that the decision for full-year financing was "arbitrary" and "should not be construed as a prediction as to when the war will end."

"The date of the termination of the war is, of course, impossible to predict," it added.

The funds recommended by the committee, subject to House action next week, are $946.68 million more than President Johnson requested and almost $12 billion more than was appropriated in a comparable bill last year. Last year's initial bill was inadequate, however, and an extra $11 billion was provided in a second measure.

The money in the pending bill might not be enough, the committee noted, and several billion dollars more may be needed if combat operations continue at a high level.

A Republican minority report, agreeing that the huge appropriation won't be enough, called for creation of a "blue ribbon commission" to make an "independent and objective evaluation of the projected defense posture of this country."

"What could be more penny-wise and pound-foolish than to save a few cents on defense today only to lose the peace tomorrow'?" the report asked.

The increases over the President's formal appropriation requests included $163.3 million for the new Nike-X antiballistic missile system and an unspecified amount for construction of one nuclear powered frigate instead of two conventional destroyers. The administration was opposed to both of these programs.

Also included, but not provided for in the President's budget, were $67 million to retain separate Army National Guard and Army Reserve organizations; $6 million to continue operation of a B52 fleet of 600 aircraft; $19.9 million for additional light observation helicopters; and $55 million to provide for increased production capability for the F12 interceptor plane.

Lawyers Make Appeal For Jack Ruby's Life

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lawyers for Jack Ruby, slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, ask the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today to save the chubby former strip-joint owner from the electric chair.

Arguments before the three judges, composing the highest state tribunal for criminal cases, were expected to last 3½ hours.

Ruby, 55, is not attending the hearing.

Whether the judges affirm the death sentence or order a new trial will not be known for more than three months. The court goes into summer recess Saturday until Oct. 3.

Mississippi Marchers Plan Rally

We Will Maintain Peace, Governor Says Of March

CANTON, Miss. (AP)—Frazzled by a hectic night of tear gas and tension, the Mississippi march regroups today for new "confrontations."

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said a detachment would drive 60 miles east to Philadelphia, Miss., a Ku Klux Klan stronghold, for a rally.

"We will maintain the peace come hell or high water," said Gov. Paul Johnson, in urging Philadelphia residents to stay away from the rally—part of the march's effort to spur Negro voter registration.

The busy schedule also called for organization of a Negro boycott of downtown white merchants and a general work stoppage by Negroes in Canton, while a few continue the march toward Jackson.

From Canton, the march swings south along U.S. 51, the same highway where it all was started by James H. Meredith in Memphis, Tenn., 20 days and 220 miles ago. Jackson is 20 miles from Canton.

Meredith is the slender Negro who broke the racial barrier at the University of Mississippi in 1962. He was wounded by shotgun blasts June 6 as he walked near Hernando. Civil rights leaders rushed in to take up his march.

Recovered from his wounds, Meredith—now a Columbia University law student—planned to rejoin the march today.

Claude Sterrett, traveling with Meredith, said they would leave Memphis by car at 3 p.m. EST.

Meredith was carrying the ivory and ebony walking cane given him by an African chieftain-with tape binding the crack caused when he fell on the cane during the shooting.

King, who got a strong dose of tear gas in Thursday night's uproar in Canton, called the highway patrol move to drive the crowd off a Negro school ground "brutal inhumanity."

The barrage of about 40 tear gas canisters came after the marchers set up their big tents on the school ground in defiance of the city's refusal to allow them to camp there.

About 100 police in riot dress moved in on the crowd, drove them back with clubs and the choking gas, then pulled down the tents, packed them on the truck and had the truck hauled off with a wrecker.

During the operation, the school ground was ringed by patrolmen with leveled shotguns and rifles.

Mayor Cancels Welcoming Dinner

Controversial King Faisal Begins New York Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, stripped of his standing as an official city visitor, begins his visit to New York today as the guest of the United Nations and several private groups.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, under public and political pressure, canceled a planned welcoming dinner for Faisal Thursday night. By order of the mayor, no city official was on hand to greet Faisal when the king arrived at La Guardia Airport from Washington.

Lindsay said Faisal's remark in Washington about Jews "has made it impossible for me, as mayor of New York City, to extend the official welcome of the city."

Faisal had been asked at a Washington luncheon about an Arab boycott of U.S. business firms trading with Israel.

"Unfortunately Jews support Israel and we consider those who provide assistance to our enemies as our own enemies," the king replied.

Lindsay commented: "The remark is extremely offensive, not just to Jews, but to all the citizens of New York."

New York has about 2 million Jews.

Faisal attends a luncheon at the United Nations today as guest of the world organization.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg also plans to attend the luncheon barring "an unforseen event," said a spokesman for the U.S. delegation.

Tonight, the Arab monarch is scheduled to be the guest of the Arabian American Oil Co. at a dinner at the Waldorf Astoria, where he is staying. Other receptions by private organizations are scheduled through Wednesday.

Dodd Slated To Present Witnesses

Senator's Linked To Klein's Cash In Misconduct Probe

Last year's initial bill was inadequate, however, and an extra $11 billion was provided in a second measure.

The money in the pending bill might not be enough, the committee noted, and several billion dollars more may be needed if combat operations continue at a high level.

A Republican minority report, agreeing that the huge appropriation won't be enough, called for creation of a "blue ribbon commission" to make an "independent and objective evaluation of the projected defense posture of this country."

"What could be more penny-wise and pound-foolish than to save a few cents on defense today only to lose the peace tomorrow'?" the report asked.

The increases over the President's formal appropriation requests included $163.3 million for the new Nike-X antiballistic missile system and an unspecified amount for construction of one nuclear powered frigate instead of two conventional destroyers. The administration was opposed to both of these programs.

Also included, but not provided for in the President's budget, were $67 million to retain separate Army National Guard and Army Reserve organizations; $6 million to continue operation of a B52 fleet of 600 aircraft; $19.9 million for additional light observation helicopters; and $55 million to provide for increased production capability for the F12 interceptor plane.

Lawyers Make Appeal For Jack Ruby's Life

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lawyers for Jack Ruby, slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, ask the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today to save the chubby former strip-joint owner from the electric chair.

Arguments before the three judges, composing the highest state tribunal for criminal cases, were expected to last 3½ hours.

Ruby, 55, is not attending the hearing.

Whether the judges affirm the death sentence or order a new trial will not be known for more than three months. The court goes into summer recess Saturday until Oct. 3.

Mississippi Marchers Plan Rally

We Will Maintain Peace, Governor Says Of March

CANTON, Miss. (AP)—Frazzled by a hectic night of tear gas and tension, the Mississippi march regroups today for new "confrontations."

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said a detachment would drive 60 miles east to Philadelphia, Miss., a Ku Klux Klan stronghold, for a rally.

"We will maintain the peace come hell or high water," said Gov. Paul Johnson, in urging Philadelphia residents to stay away from the rally—part of the march's effort to spur Negro voter registration.

The busy schedule also called for organization of a Negro boycott of downtown white merchants and a general work stoppage by Negroes in Canton, while a few continue the march toward Jackson.

From Canton, the march swings south along U.S. 51, the same highway where it all was started by James H. Meredith in Memphis, Tenn., 20 days and 220 miles ago. Jackson is 20 miles from Canton.

Meredith is the slender Negro who broke the racial barrier at the University of Mississippi in 1962. He was wounded by shotgun blasts June 6 as he walked near Hernando. Civil rights leaders rushed in to take up his march.

Recovered from his wounds, Meredith—now a Columbia University law student—planned to rejoin the march today.

Claude Sterrett, traveling with Meredith, said they would leave Memphis by car at 3 p.m. EST.

Meredith was carrying the ivory and ebony walking cane given him by an African chieftain-with tape binding the crack caused when he fell on the cane during the shooting.

King, who got a strong dose of tear gas in Thursday night's uproar in Canton, called the highway patrol move to drive the crowd off a Negro school ground "brutal inhumanity."

The barrage of about 40 tear gas canisters came after the marchers set up their big tents on the school ground in defiance of the city's refusal to allow them to camp there.

About 100 police in riot dress moved in on the crowd, drove them back with clubs and the choking gas, then pulled down the tents, packed them on the truck and had the truck hauled off with a wrecker.

During the operation, the school ground was ringed by patrolmen with leveled shotguns and rifles.

Mayor Cancels Welcoming Dinner

Controversial King Faisal Begins New York Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, stripped of his standing as an official city visitor, begins his visit to New York today as the guest of the United Nations and several private groups.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, under public and political pressure, canceled a planned welcoming dinner for Faisal Thursday night. By order of the mayor, no city official was on hand to greet Faisal when the king arrived at La Guardia Airport from Washington.

Lindsay said Faisal's remark in Washington about Jews "has made it impossible for me, as mayor of New York City, to extend the official welcome of the city."

Faisal had been asked at a Washington luncheon about an Arab boycott of U.S. business firms trading with Israel.

"Unfortunately Jews support Israel and we consider those who provide assistance to our enemies as our own enemies," the king replied.

Lindsay commented: "The remark is extremely offensive, not just to Jews, but to all the citizens of New York."

New York has about 2 million Jews.

Faisal attends a luncheon at the United Nations today as guest of the world organization.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg also plans to attend the luncheon barring "an unforseen event," said a spokesman for the U.S. delegation.

Tonight, the Arab monarch is scheduled to be the guest of the Arabian American Oil Co. at a dinner at the Waldorf Astoria, where he is staying. Other receptions by private organizations are scheduled through Wednesday.

Mental Health Clinic Levy Will Be Submitted Again

LISBON — A two-tenths of a mill levy for the Columbiana County Mental Health Clinic here is being prepared for resubmission to the voters Nov. 8.

Judge Louis Tobin of probate and juvenile courts, chairman of the clinic trustees, made the request of county commissioners Thursday. They will ask Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis to draw up the necessary papers for the county Board of Elections.

Voters rejected the proposal 7,902 to 6,861 last May 3.

The levy would be for five years, 1966-70, and would produce $48,000 annually to expand facilities at the E. Lincoln Way clinic.

Clinic operations are financed by a one-tenth mill levy approved in 1963. It brings in $24,000 per year. Clinic personnel say more and more people are using the clinic and more money is needed to increase the staff and improve services.

Commissioners approved Memorial Day expenses of $250 — $50 for each of five groups: Lepine-Rush American Legion Post 684 of Hanoverton, Joe Williams American Legion Post 131 of Leetonia and the Wellsville Memorial Council comprised of Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts 9285 and 5647 and American Legion Post 70.

Mrs. Theda Thornton, TB control clinic nurse, was allowed $44 to take a county patient to the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital at Columbus.

Judge Chertoff suspended both the fine and the costs for Way after learning he is a recently discharged serviceman who had served in Viet Nam.

"You have just returned safely from one of the most dangerous places in the world," the judge told Way. "Don't allow yourself to be injured or killed in an automobile."

Discussing the other citations in general terms, the judge said: "I am determined to do something about the speeding on St. Clair Ave."

Some of the motorists were arrested after darkness fell, an unusual aspect of the radar check. Most of the local radar checks are made in early afternoon.

Patrolman William A. Devon and Charles A. Winters issued the citations. They commented that the motorists were surprised at being cited after nightfall, as they apparently had forgotten the radio waves of radar can "see in the dark."

Repeated radar checks have been made recently on St. Clair, W. 8th St. and parts of East End.

Boy Staters Talk To Lisbon Group

LISBON — Three Lisbon youths who attended the American Legion's Boys State this month at Ohio University, Athens, spoke at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday noon at St. George Parish Hall.

William McDevitt, Greg Pastore and James Kelm reviewed their experiences during the model government conference and said "they are sorry more boys do not have the opportunity" to attend.

Kiwanis was Boys State sponsor for McDevitt, who will be president of the Key Club next year at David Anderson High School. All three will be seniors.

President Cornell Monda said H. Jud English of East Liverpool, former lieutenant governor of Division 19, is in charge of getting a delegation from the Lisbon, East Liverpool and Wellsville clubs to attend a Kiwanis night outing Monday, July 18, at Forbes Field when the Pittsburgh Pirates play San Francisco.

Satellite Put Into Orbit On Map Mission

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — America's new star in the sky—a silvery 100-foot balloon—orbited the poles today, providing a new way to find out where on earth things are.

PAGEOS, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's earth-mapping project, is a 125-pound plastic balloon coated with aluminum. PAGEOS stands for Passive Geodetic Earth-Orbiting Satellite.

The big ball, intricately folded inside a canister, was pushed into orbit Thursday by a thrust-augmented Thor-Agena-D rocket combination. Its orbital path is circular, 2,600 miles above the earth.

Once in orbit, the balloon was popped out of its protective canister. The big gas bag expanded as the heat of the sun vaporized chemicals inside.

PAGEOS' mission, scientists said, is to act as the world's highest-flying photographers' model, providing a pinpoint of reflected light near the horizon nightly.

This pinpoint of light, photographed from several points on earth against a background of stars, will provide the prime reference point for a 5-year study aimed at correcting the world's maps.

The big ball, scientists said, should be visible to the naked eye as it reflects the light of the sun. They said the satellite would be as bright as the star Polaris (the North Star).

Photographs, to be taken from 41 points on earth, will be coordinated to locate, precisely, the continents, islands and other earthly features.

The resulting data, scientists explained, will enable them to locate any point on earth to within 100 feet of its true position.

If one of your youngsters has fallen into the habit of complaining all the time, he doesn't realize it most likely. To make him conscious of this bad habit, start a complaint jar for the whole family. Each time any member of the family complains about anything at all, he must put a penny into the jar. It's a good stunt for the whole family.

ments because of mental, physical or moral reasons, and some 3.5 million more had 3A deferments, some because of extreme hardship, most because they were married and had children.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, says 56 per cent of those who go to college eventually see military service.

"This compares to 46 per cent of those who don't go to college. I know it's hard to believe, but that's a fact," he told the House Armed Services Committee this week. The committee is conducting hearings on the draft.

"If the nation needs those who are trained, it should be prepared to defer them when the needs of the armed forces permit, and the individual continues to serve the national interest," he said.

The policy has been, he said, to defer "those diligently improving themselves so far as possible, and to look at the essentiality of the skill acquired when it has been put to use."

July 11, in the commissioners' office, Moshur, Fok, McClain and McGraw of Youngstown, which submitted a $10,000 offer for planning, will be in a position to apply for matching funds from the Federal Aviation Authority.

Commissioners will view Road 196 Thursday, July 7. The petition describes the portion to be vacated as approximately 1,350 feet long from County Road 1000 (Air Beacon Rd.) south to the south line of Section 24.

The 12 petitioners say they are freeholders adjacent to the "unused" road in the southwest quarter of Section 24. They are Madison Township trustees Frank Woodrow, Wellsville R. D. 1; George H. Dunn, Lisbon R. D. 3, and Isaac Jones, East Liverpool; Willa Woodrow; Betty J. Dunn and Rose Jones; William J. Poynter, Helen Poynter, Sylvester D. Mays, Grace I. Mays and Dorothy C. How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I remedy black felt hats that have become dull-looking or rain-spotted?

A.—Try holding them over the spout of a steaming teakettle, then buffing with a soft brush or a piece of felt to bring the nap up.

Q.—How can I make a better and more legible job of addressing packages for mailing?

A.—Use ordinary wooden kitchen matches, dipped in India ink, as a "pen." The printing will be heavier, and more easily read by the postal clerks.

Q. — How can I remedy hard and lumpy sugar?

A. By putting it into a covered receptacle in the refrigerator for a few days. This will soften it.

Commissioners will view Road 196 Thursday, July 7. The petition describes the portion to be vacated as approximately 1,350 feet long from County Road 1000 (Air Beacon Rd.) south to the south line of Section 24.

The 12 petitioners say they are freeholders adjacent to the "unused" road in the southwest quarter of Section 24. They are Madison Township trustees Frank Woodrow, Wellsville R. D. 1; George H. Dunn, Lisbon R. D. 3, and Isaac Jones, East Liverpool; Willa Woodrow; Betty J. Dunn and Rose Jones; William J. Poynter, Helen Poynter, Sylvester D. Mays, Grace I. Mays and Dorothy C. Roberts, all of Wellsville R. D. 1, and Herman Hoppel.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I remedy black felt hats that have become dull-looking or rain-spotted?

A.—Try holding them over the spout of a steaming teakettle, then buffing with a soft brush or a piece of felt to bring the nap up.

Q.—How can I make a better and more legible job of addressing packages for mailing?

A.—Use ordinary wooden kitchen matches, dipped in India ink, as a "pen." The printing will be heavier, and more easily read by the postal clerks.

Q. — How can I remedy hard and lumpy sugar?

A. By putting it into a covered receptacle in the refrigerator for a few days. This will soften it.

Rickover Fires Another Salvo

This time we're less interested in what Admiral Rickover has to say about higher education than in his philosophy of criticism.

What he has to say is that the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis spends too much time on inconsequentials and not enough on hard-rock learning.

Then, with rare good grace, higher education's most feared gadfly adds:

"I know much of what I say today will be fought and discounted by those in authority today. I also know that three to four years hence much of what I recommend today will be generally adopted — as has been the case in the past years."

Most critics cannot be philosophical about defeat. They are embittered because their proposals for improvement are rejected automatically by defenders of the status quo.

They go from bitterness over being rebuffed to defeatism. They end up in a mood of permanent despair about the improvability of mankind. Admiral Rickover, himself, has had moments of despair since he began to excoriate higher education for its preoccupation with folly.

But he has made a great discovery — the fact new ideas always are resisted at the outset, no matter how good they are, then adopted later, usually with glowing credit to some of the same people who tried to squelch them.

One of the admiral's ideas already has been taken to heart — the idea that young men training to be officers in a modern navy have nothing but tired feet to gain by marching.

The Navy, which never gives in easily, finally has quit drumming its officer trainees to and from class. They get to class now by the shortest expedient route.

Three or four years from now, Annapolis may let its plebes quit eating "square meals."

An Obligation

On a tragic note, it has been brought home again that there is a war going on.

Richard Roach has paid with his life in the fighting in Viet Nam.

His death will be mourned. His wife and his parents will receive condolences. Sorrow will be expressed in many other quiet, solemn ways. There will be no more fighting for Hospital Corpsman Roach.

It is the obligation of us who remain to carry on, to strive for the best possible solution however shallow the ultimate conclusion may be.

An Old-Fashioned Practice

The statistical wizards are back on stage again with more mysto-magic about the consumer price index.

Because of this, that and the other thing, some prices went down and others went up, with the ups approximately balancing the downs, with the net result that the living costs of an imaginary consumer exercising no freedom of choice stayed on an even keel. So much for theory.

But consumers are real, not theoretical.

They shop for prices.

They exercise freedom of choice.

Why did the soaring price of pork quit soaring? Why did pigs quit having wings? Certainly one reason was a housewifely decision to lay off pig meat until the price was right.

It is absurd to talk and act in this country as if consumers were a captive lot, robbed of freedom of choice in the market place. They shop around, they pick and choose, they get their dander up when they think they're being gouged.

Contrary to the computer intelligence of the statisticians, consumers hold the outlay for their market baskets at a fairly constant level. Temporary fluctuations in prices have almost no effect. They lay off the too expensive and zero in on the bargains.

Along with more little pigs and the other technical reasons, give housewives credit for stabilizing the price of pork by not bidding for it in a rising market. They fell back on an old-fashioned practice: wait until the price is right.

Hang In There!

If the going seems rough, hang in there!

Hookstown lost 43-4 in the South Side Hot Stove League the other evening. But you can bet the Hookstown boys will be back for the next game.

Everyone runs into an occasional setback, be it a 43-4 trouncing or some other demanding and challenging situation.

All you can do is pick yourself up, dust yourself off and start all over again. Who knows, the next time it may be only 43-3!

Problem For An Image-Maker

Ronald Reagan's decision to wage his campaign for governor in California without the help of either Barry M. Goldwater or Richard M. Nixon pinpoints the problem of all Republican image-makers.

When the election-winning image of Dwight D. Eisenhower faded, the party sustained a terrible loss. Mr. Nixon tried bravely to do something about it, but memory winces at the unfortunate image he projected in his TV debates with John F. Kennedy.

The next image was the "Ev and Charley Show" — the TV presenatation of the Republican cause by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Charles Halleck of Indiana. Here were two of the ablest party stalwarts, who looked and sounded excessively stalwart at a time when the Republican cause needed verve and bounce.

In 1964, Sen. Goldwater was a personally attractive man overshadowed during his campaign by a coterie of politically unattractive people, including Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who personally was capable of driving away millions of northern Republican votes.

Mr. Reagan, an image-maker by profession in the motion picture industry, has a monumental task. He must tackle it in California with a thought to the effect on the rest of the nation. The image he creates there in 1966 will be his as long as he stays in politics.

And it will be part of the Republican image as long as he continues to be one of its publicized image-makers.

A Shortage Of Compliance

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey may end up being the "fall guy" for Selective Service. As its director, he has been turned into a personal target for nationwide criticism.

But in fairness to Gen. Hershey, who has served long and well and is too old to be crushed by another barrage of criticism, the nationwide criticism is not directed at him so much as it is directed at the undeclared war in Southeast Asia that has brought Selective Service under scrutiny.

Until draft calls were stepped up and until tens of thousands of young men who thought they were secure had immediate reason to worry, no one paid much attention to Selective Service.

It is being given attention now not because of any sudden impulse to correct its inequities but because of sudden concern over being drafted and sent to Southeast Asia for duty in one of the grisliest military adventures ever undertaken by the United States.

In the first day's testimony before an investigating committee of the House of Representatives, the glaring inequity of a nationwide draft under local administration was pinpointed.

A nationwide draft needs nationwide standards.

If husbands are going to be drafted in Three Forks, Minn., they should be drafted in Triple Rivers, Ore. Gen. Hershey says there is no lack of regulations and instructions. But even he could not deny there is a shortage of compliance.

Centralized computerization of draft eligibles may be the answer. It clearly is no answer for Gen. Hershey to stand pat and insist that everything is going as well as could be expected.

A Leaky Umbrella

By Richard Spong

As a military alliance, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) is something less than what it says it is. With the exception of Pakistan, it is true, all SEATO's Asian members have made military commitments to the war in Viet Nam. But when you have said that you have not said very much.

Actually, the SEATO pact is at least a misnomer. Of its eight members—the United States, Britain, France, Pakistan, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, and the Philippines—only the last two are really Southeast Asian countries.

Australia has a task force in Viet Nam of some 4,500 men, with their own base and logistic support units. New Zealand is making a comparable contribution. This kind of demonstration is probably traceable less to SEATO obligations than to enlightened self-interest.

FRANCE HAS BEEN an inactive member of SEATO for several years. The French thwarted any SEATO action for the defense of Laos at a meeting in Bangkok in 1961. Laos was removed from the protection of the leaky SEATO umbrella by the 1962 Geneva agreement.

After much pressure, France in 1964 agreed not to file a dissent and merely abstained from the SEATO pledge to South Viet Nam. Britain and the United States are expected not to ask France to leave the SEATO Ministerial Council when it meets in Canberra. But representatives of Thailand and the Philippines may complain about the presence of a French observer. Both governments have told the United States that they regard the French presence as a security risk.

Differences over policy among the United States, Britain, and France have kept SEATO from ever being an Asian NATO. As an entity, SEATO has scarcely flexed a muscle in the dozen years of its existence. Now French obstructionism appears threatening to NATO, but at least in the Atlantic Alliance the spirit of cooperation — excluding France — is greater than in SEATO.

COOPERATION IN THE PACIFIC fortunately, is not limited to SEATO. Earlier this month, at a conference in Seoul, Japan joined with eight other Asian nations to form the Asian and Pacific Council (ASPAC), committed at the moment only to political, economic, and social cooperation. The grouping is not markedly anti-Communist. The door is open to neutrals. Nevertheless, member nations have privately discussed a possible transformation into a defense organization.

Reds Set Sights On Unions

By Victor Riesel

Staked out behind the inner portals of the Communist party's convention is a truly secret band of 12 young men and women.

They are the old timers' challenge to the competitors for the new youth. They are the newly-trained avant guarde.

Victor Riesel

They are the party's hope for the future — as the aging, old-line, Moscow-bent chiefs move their political organization partially into the open.

The secret 12 will take up assigned posts in the South, in some Northern, highly strategic unions and in key plant departments, where they can become rank-and-file leaders—especially in "steel, auto, railroads and longshoring."

They are but the first of cadres to come—but they are the pioneers of the party's efforts to capture the new left as the youth of today replace the old timers in shop and mill and transport and school and minority leadership.

Their hegira to New York and the massed contacts at the 18th Communist national convention was not an easy one.

It began very early last January as carefully selcted youths left their homes in Boston, New York, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, Ore.

THEIR DESTINATION was the "little red schoolhouse" in Toronto's miserable East End. It is on the second floor of the Macedonian Bulgarian Hall.

There they met seven selectees of the Canadian party.

The security was as strict as the physical and intellectual regimen.

They were ordered not to use any telphones. They were told to limit their correspondence to the minimum needed to keep their families from raising an alarm over their disappearance from home grounds.

They were instructed to warn those who wrote to them to send letters in a double envelope.

The outer cover was to be mailed to a special central address. The inner envelope was to contain only the trainee's first name. The second envelope then was delivered directly to the undercover school.

But on Feb. 15 — some six weeks after classes in infiltration had started on Jan. 4 — the Canadian counter-intelligence police walked in. Teaching at the moment was Hyman Lumer, director of the U.S. Communist party's educational apparatus.

Lumer and his students left in a hurry. By train and bus they slipped out of Canada and reported to national Communist party headquarters, at 23 W. 26th St., New York City.

Some of us kept on their trail, though at times it took some of the ingenuity of some chaps from U.N.C.L.E.

The young Communist leaders of the future were housed in the homes of trusted party members. Classes were temporarily resumed at Cademy Hall, 853 Broadway.

Then a training hall for the young revolutionists was set up in more comfortable quarters at Ukranianian Hall, 85 East 4th St. For another six weeks, party leaders — talking to what seemed to be merely a band of young men and women interested in the esoteric of politics — continued the intense training sessions.

For the record, such aging revolutionists as Gus Hall, Betty Gannett, James Jackson, Claude Lightfoot (now forgiven for being a slum lord himself), Dan Rubin, and Will Weinstone tutored the 12 in how to take over everything from a union and a youth movement to a civil rights campaign and a government itself.

IT ALL APPEARED to be moments out of Lenin's day in Paris or Marx' years in what is now London's Soho.

But this time the beards were on the students.

In April, the young people were given home leave. Then they returned to New York for the convention and assignment—either directly into the field or to special youth schools this summer to train others.

There are only 12 now, but mock not this small number. Thus it began, too, in the early '30s with the Communists' Trade Union Unity League, whose graduates now lead some powerful unions in some mighty strategic defense, space and thermonuclear fields.

Mark well, too, the fact that the party now is surfacing.

There have been six regional and state Communist party conventions since memorial Day —all the way from Boston to Seattle via Cleveland and Milwaukee and Minneapolis. Communists have run proudly as Communists in recent polls.

IN THE JUNE 7 California primary, in the contest for tax assessor for Los Angeles County, Mrs. Dorothy Healey, campaigning openly as a Communist, polled the truly estimable total of 86,149 votes. In New York another avowed Communist, Dr. Herbert Aptheker, is whipping up a campaign for Congress in the 12th Congressional District.

Hundreds of young people are and have been in these campaigns. Now the young cadres are being trained for the labor and production fields.

Everywhere, they talk not of revolution but of taxes and garbage collection and better street lighting and faster transit.

They are young.

They are energetic.

They are centrally and fantastically well directed.

They know where they want to go—which is not often true of those whose ranks they—and the waves of cadres which will follow—seek to infiltrate.

Confusion

By David Lawrence

'The Law Of The Land'

One wonders, sometimes, how people generally can learn what "the law of the land" is today on many subjects. There is, for instance, such a constant flow of opinions by the Supreme Court of the United States—often involving complex phrases and technicalities—that it's hard for the average person to know what's considered lawful or unlawful.

David Lawrence

There is a glimmer of hope, however, in an opinion of the Supreme Court this week which puts in simple form "the law of the land" with respect to disorders and improper conduct, especially in connection with "civil rights" demonstrations. The Supreme Court says:

"First, no federal law confers an absolute right on private citizens—on civil rights advocates, on Negroes, or on anybody else—to obstruct a public street, to contribute to the delinquency of a minor, to drive an automobile without a license, or to bite a policeman.

"Second, no federal law confers immunity from state prosecution on such charges."

The issue arose because of the efforts of various defendants in civil rights cases to remove their trials from state to federal courts in the belief that they would get better treatment in the latter.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE Potter Stewart, who delivered the latest opinion of the majority of the court, says that merely alleging that the charges are false or that the defendant was prosecuted for reasons of color or race and may be unable to obtain a fair trial in a particular state court is not enough to remove a case from a state court to a federal court. The justice adds:

"The motives of the officers bringing the charges may be corrupt, but that does not show that the state trial court will find the defendant guilty if he is innocent, or that in any other manner the defendant will be 'denied or cannot enforce in the courts' of the state any right under a federal law providing for equal civil rights. The civil rights removal statute does not require and does not permit the judges of the federal courts to put their brethren of the state judiciary on trial."

There are cases which can be readily transferred from state to federal courts when there is an explicit provision of federal law which specifies the conditions for such a removal at the start of proceedings.

CONGRESS, OF COURSE, has the constitutional power to provide that federal issues shall be tried in federal courts or that jurisdiction should be shared, and in many instances appeals can be made to the U.S. Supreme Court from state court decisions. But "the law of the land" today, as pronounced by the majority of the court, reiterates, in effect, that no one can find legal justification for "civil disobedience."

Inevitably, as demonstrations increase in intensity and provoke more and more violence, the country will demand that Congress seriously consider the enactment of a law defining "incitement to violence."

It seems incredible that in free America—where auditoriums and stadiums and other facilities for speakers to address large crowds are available—it should be necessary nevertheless to engage in marches on the streets of big cities or on the highways.

Many people are beginning to believe that the marches are deliberately undertaken with the idea of provoking violence so as to get more and more publicity and sympathy.

THIS FORM OF EXTREMISM is not likely to be effective in the long run because sooner or later, as prejudice increases, the law-enforcement authorities will have to begin denying permits. They may base their action on a belief that incitement to violence is involved or on the conclusion that measures of protection could not be made effective. It then will be necessary for the courts to decide whether the nature of the demonstration was provocative and whether ample protection could have been given.

An opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States once declared — and it's still, presumably, "the law of the land"—that free speech does not include the right to cry "fire!" in a crowded theater, thereby producing panic. Similarly, the right of "free assembly" can hardly include a right to obstruct traffic and carry on provocative demonstrations.

Their hegira to New York and the massed contacts at the 18th Communist national convention was not an easy one.

It began very early last January as carefully selcted youths left their homes in Boston, New York, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, Ore.

THEIR DESTINATION was the "little red schoolhouse" in Toronto's miserable East End. It is on the second floor of the Macedonian Bulgarian Hall.

There they met seven selectees of the Canadian party.

The security was as strict as the physical and intellectual regimen.

They were ordered not to use any telphones. They were told to limit their correspondence to the minimum needed to keep their families from raising an alarm over their disappearance from home grounds.

They were instructed to warn those who wrote to them to send letters in a double envelope.

The outer cover was to be mailed to a special central address. The inner envelope was to contain only the trainee's first name. The second envelope then was delivered directly to the undercover school.

But on Feb. 15 — some six weeks after classes in infiltration had started on Jan. 4 — the Canadian counter-intelligence police walked in. Teaching at the moment was Hyman Lumer, director of the U.S. Communist party's educational apparatus.

Lumer and his students left in a hurry. By train and bus they slipped out of Canada and reported to national Communist party headquarters, at 23 W. 26th St., New York City.

Some of us kept on their trail, though at times it took some of the ingenuity of some chaps from U.N.C.L.E.

The young Communist leaders of the future were housed in the homes of trusted party members. Classes were temporarily resumed at Cademy Hall, 853 Broadway.

Then a training hall for the young revolutionists was set up in more comfortable quarters at Ukranianian Hall, 85 East 4th St. For another six weeks, party leaders — talking to what seemed to be merely a band of young men and women interested in the esoteric of politics — continued the intense training sessions.

For the record, such aging revolutionists as Gus Hall, Betty Gannett, James Jackson, Claude Lightfoot (now forgiven for being a slum lord himself), Dan Rubin, and Will Weinstone tutored the 12 in how to take over everything from a union and a youth movement to a civil rights campaign and a government itself.

IT ALL APPEARED to be moments out of Lenin's day in Paris or Marx' years in what is now London's Soho.

But this time the beards were on the students.

In April, the young people were given home leave. Then they returned to New York for the convention and assignment—either directly into the field or to special youth schools this summer to train others.

There are only 12 now, but mock not this small number. Thus it began, too, in the early '30s with the Communists' Trade Union Unity League, whose graduates now lead some powerful unions in some mighty strategic defense, space and thermonuclear fields.

Mark well, too, the fact that the party now is surfacing.

There have been six regional and state Communist party conventions since memorial Day —all the way from Boston to Seattle via Cleveland and Milwaukee and Minneapolis. Communists have run proudly as Communists in recent polls.

IN THE JUNE 7 California primary, in the contest for tax assessor for Los Angeles County, Mrs. Dorothy Healey, campaigning openly as a Communist, polled the truly estimable total of 86,149 votes. In New York another avowed Communist, Dr. Herbert Aptheker, is whipping up a campaign for Congress in the 12th Congressional District.

Hundreds of young people are and have been in these campaigns. Now the young cadres are being trained for the labor and production fields.

Everywhere, they talk not of revolution but of taxes and garbage collection and better street lighting and faster transit.

They are young.

They are energetic.

They are centrally and fantastically well directed.

They know where they want to go—which is not often true of those whose ranks they—and the waves of cadres which will follow—seek to infiltrate.

Confusion

By David Lawrence

'The Law Of The Land'

One wonders, sometimes, how people generally can learn what "the law of the land" is today on many subjects. There is, for instance, such a constant flow of opinions by the Supreme Court of the United States—often involving complex phrases and technicalities—that it's hard for the average person to know what's considered lawful or unlawful.

David Lawrence

There is a glimmer of hope, however, in an opinion of the Supreme Court this week which puts in simple form "the law of the land" with respect to disorders and improper conduct, especially in connection with "civil rights" demonstrations. The Supreme Court says:

"First, no federal law confers an absolute right on private citizens—on civil rights advocates, on Negroes, or on anybody else—to obstruct a public street, to contribute to the delinquency of a minor, to drive an automobile without a license, or to bite a policeman.

"Second, no federal law confers immunity from state prosecution on such charges."

The issue arose because of the efforts of various defendants in civil rights cases to remove their trials from state to federal courts in the belief that they would get better treatment in the latter.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE Potter Stewart, who delivered the latest opinion of the majority of the court, says that merely alleging that the charges are false or that the defendant was prosecuted for reasons of color or race and may be unable to obtain a fair trial in a particular state court is not enough to remove a case from a state court to a federal court. The justice adds:

"The motives of the officers bringing the charges may be corrupt, but that does not show that the state trial court will find the defendant guilty if he is innocent, or that in any other manner the defendant will be 'denied or cannot enforce in the courts' of the state any right under a federal law providing for equal civil rights. The civil rights removal statute does not require and does not permit the judges of the federal courts to put their brethren of the state judiciary on trial."

There are cases which can be readily transferred from state to federal courts when there is an explicit provision of federal law which specifies the conditions for such a removal at the start of proceedings.

CONGRESS, OF COURSE, has the constitutional power to provide that federal issues shall be tried in federal courts or that jurisdiction should be shared, and in many instances appeals can be made to the U.S. Supreme Court from state court decisions. But "the law of the land" today, as pronounced by the majority of the court, reiterates, in effect, that no one can find legal justification for "civil disobedience."

Inevitably, as demonstrations increase in intensity and provoke more and more violence, the country will demand that Congress seriously consider the enactment of a law defining "incitement to violence."

It seems incredible that in free America—where auditoriums and stadiums and other facilities for speakers to address large crowds are available—it should be necessary nevertheless to engage in marches on the streets of big cities or on the highways.

Many people are beginning to believe that the marches are deliberately undertaken with the idea of provoking violence so as to get more and more publicity and sympathy.

THIS FORM OF EXTREMISM is not likely to be effective in the long run because sooner or later, as prejudice increases, the law-enforcement authorities will have to begin denying permits. They may base their action on a belief that incitement to violence is involved or on the conclusion that measures of protection could not be made effective. It then will be necessary for the courts to decide whether the nature of the demonstration was provocative and whether ample protection could have been given.

An opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States once declared — and it's still, presumably, "the law of the land"—that free speech does not include the right to cry "fire!" in a crowded theater, thereby producing panic. Similarly, the right of "free assembly" can hardly include a right to obstruct traffic and carry on provocative demonstrations.

Parking Ban Set In Parade At Wellsville

Police said today parking will be banned along the parade route in Wellsville after 5:30 this afternoon.

The annual volunteer fire department's homecoming parade will move promptly at 7 and all cars are asked to be removed from the Main St. to allow a free flow of the units.

Frank Fusco, parade marshal, said the judges for tonight's event will be Chief Alfred VanDyne and Assistant Chief James Pelley of East Liverpool, fire units, and O. P. McAdoo of Wellsville and Herman Heiney of Glenmoor, marching units.

The parade will form on Broadway, move down Main to 15th St., turn right to Commerce and then move back up to 13th St. to the park where the carnival is located.

Fusco said all marching units are to continue on into the carnival grounds, but the fire units will be asked to drive up Commerce to Buckeye Ave. and then cut back to the carnival grounds.

Men will be stationed at the grounds to direct the units, he said.

20 More Due To Face City Tax Charges

Twenty more East Liverpool residents are due in Municipal Court July 13 at 9 a. m. on charges of violating the city income tax ordinance.

D. G. Wilkinson, tax commissioner, filed the affidavits Thursday afternoon, alleging that the defendants failed to file final returns on 1965 income or did not provide estimates of 1966 earnings. The deadline for both reports was in April.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff set the date for the hearings before summonses were prepared for each of the defendants. The notices will be served by Bailiff Wilbert P. Taylor. The court will make public the names of the defendants after the summonses have been delivered.

It's the second series of 20 cases filed by Wilkinson in recent weeks. A series of defendants was before Judge Chertoff earlier this week, with most making arrangements to settle with the tax office. Two of the cases were continued until July 8.

Wilkinson indicated he will file 20 cases weekly until a backlog of about 400 is cleared up.

The charges concern persons required to file individual returns on their earnings, primarily because they are employed out of town where withholding at the source is not in effect. Persons whose entire income is subject to withholding are not required to file the returns.

3 'Secret Agents' On Guard Against Cereal Leaf Beetle

LISBON — Three government agents are in Columbiana County seeking an invader from the old country — the cereal leaf beetle.

The trio, from the Department of Agriculture, checked in with Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan.

The sheriff said the three informed him of their mission so he could allay the concern of any farmers phoning his office about "strangers" on their land.

A USDA bulletin says the beetle is a serious pest of grain crops and is prevalent in Europe as far east as Siberia, in North Africa and in Iran and Turkey.

The beetle first was noticed in the United States in July 1962 in Berrien County, Mich., and later the same year in Cass County, Mich. and LaPorte and St. Joseph counties, Ind. It appeared in southwestern Michigan, northern Indiana and Ohio, for the first time, in 1963. Will County, Ill., reported its arrival in May 1965.

The beetle has caused crop losses of from 25 to 50 per cent in the Soviet Union. Certain areas in Romania had to plow plantings under because there was virtually nothing left.

The adult beetle is about 3-16ths of an inch long. Its wing covers are a metallic, bluish black, and the legs and front segment of the Thorax are red.

The agents ask that anyone finding a beetle with this color combination place it in a small bottle of rubbing alcohol and send it to the county extension agent here or to the Plant Pest Control Division, Agricultural Research Service, Hyattsville, Md., 20781. Information as to date and place of collection should accompany the specimen.

Hancock Begins Summer Classes With 60 Enrolled

Sixty children are attending classes in the Hancock County "Head Start" program which got under way Thursday at the Pughtown School, Mrs. Mary Fluharty of Weirton, director, announced today.

Four classrooms, each with three adult supervisors, have been provided for the children, who will enter first grade in the fall, Mrs. Fluharty said. The supervisors in each classroom include a certified teacher, one paid aide who is a parent of one of the children, and a volunteer.

The youngsters are transported by school buses to the Pughtown building for the morning sessions. They are furnished lunch before being returned home.

The program is conducted under a federal grant administered by the Office of Economic Opportunity, which has established income requirements for eligibility, Mrs. Fluharty pointed out.

Kiwanians View Film About Steel

Ronald Mason screened a film on the history and manufacturing methods of the steel industry during a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thurday at the Travelers Hotel.

The film was produced by Walt Disney for the American Steel Institute.

The club endorsed a proposed Community Action Program which would provide funds for improvements at Thompson Park, improvement of the river front, development of recreation sites in Bloomfield and a "parklet" along Avondale St.

James Walker, president, was in charge. Tentative plans were made for a trip to Pittsburgh to see a baseball game.

Deputies Probe Firing Of Rifles Along River

Reports of persons discharging rifles from the West Virginia shore of the Ohio River in the area of the Cluster islands above the Stratton dam are being investigated by the Hancock County sheriff's department.

Campers on the island reported bullets striking the water about the island and hitting cabins, endangering persons at the site.

It appeared in southwestern Michigan, northern Indiana and Ohio, for the first time, in 1963. Will County, Ill., reported its arrival in May 1965.

The beetle has caused crop losses of from 25 to 50 per cent in the Soviet Union. Certain areas in Romania had to plow plantings under because there was virtually nothing left.

The adult beetle is about 3-16ths of an inch long. Its wing covers are a metallic, bluish black, and the legs and front segment of the Thorax are red.

The agents ask that anyone finding a beetle with this color combination place it in a small bottle of rubbing alcohol and send it to the county extension agent here or to the Plant Pest Control Division, Agricultural Research Service, Hyattsville, Md., 20781. Information as to date and place of collection should accompany the specimen.

HEARING DURING SURGERY

Q. Can a person who has been given ether hear what is going on during surgery?

A. General anesthesia (being "put to sleep" with ether, etc.) usually deadens the sense of hearing completely before the level of surgical anesthesia is reached. Hearing is, however, the last of the senses to be lost (and the first to return). In certain circumstances the surgeon may wish to keep the patient under light anesthesia, during which no pain is felt but hearing may be very acute.

PREMATURITY DEFINED

Q. How can you tell for sure whether a baby is premature?

A. Medically, a premature baby is one weighing 5½ pounds or less at birth. This definition, which relates prematurity to weight rather than to gestation period, is generally accepted with full knowledge that twins and certain other infants born at the usual time weigh less than 5½ pounds. Such underweight babies require special care and are thus classified as "premature" even though they may not be early arrivals.

Mention Of Castro Missing Recently Over Havana Radio

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mention of Fidel Castro has been strangely missing lately in broadcasts over the government-controlled radio in Cuba.

Miami monitors of Havana Radio have not heard the Cuban prime minister mentioned throughout this week. They recalled only sparse mention of him since he was reported inspecting Hurricane Alma's damage June 8.

That contrasts sharply with former daily mention of Castro in newscasts and other reports.

It also coincides with widespread speculation as to Castro's status. Robert McCloskey, U.S. State Department press officer, fanned the conjectures by commenting on Castro's "uncharacteristic silence."

But exiles, often gullible to the numerous rumors about things happening to their enemy No. 1, are mostly wary of this one. They point out that Castro has played hard to find before.

One of the prime minister's most vociferous critics, his sister Juanita, who lives here in self-imposed exile, has remained silent on speculation as to his whereabouts.

Castro, who likes to make speeches, made his last broadcast address on May 1. He called President Johnson "one of the greatest criminals in history." He told his people that Cuba's vital sugar crop would be small.

On June 4, Castro was reported seen on television among officials attending a function at which President Osvaldo Dorticos spoke.

The Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, a Miami-based group comprised of Americans, said it had reports from good sources that Castro has been undergoing electric-shock medical treatments. It said the reports, from diplomatic quarters and from the Cuban underground, added that a double has been making appearances for Castro.

C. M. Lampmann Jr. of 3225 St. Clair Ave. is among those attending the sessions of the Continuing Education Symposium on ceramics sponsored by the State University of New York College of Ceramics at Alfred University, Alfred, N.Y., which will wind up today.

He explained the discussions were geared to persons with experience in ceramic industries as well as those who have earned degrees in ceramics ranging from the B.S. to the Ph.D.

Chertoff Dismisses Bad Check Affidavit

Acting at the request of the complaint, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today dismissed an affidavit in which Carol Williams of New Springfield was accused of issuing a fraudulent $738 check.

The affidavit was signed by H. James Allison, secretary-treasurer of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association. He alleged that the woman issued the forged check on June 17 on the S.S. Kresge Co., payable to H. A. Felger & Son and drawn on the National City Bank of Detroit. Dated June 15, the check had been endorsed: "H. A. Felger Son—Carol Williams," the affidavit said.

Allison told the court he asked dismissal because the woman has made restitution for the alleged fraudulent check.

Suspension Upheld In Wellsville Case

The Ohio Liquor Control Commission at Columbus said the Common Pleas Court at Franklin County has affirmed a commission ruling of a 14-day suspension against the Newhouse Tavern at 1317 Main St., Wellsville.

Pope Renews Plea For End To Viet War

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI appealed anew today to world leaders to strive for an end to the war in Viet Nam.

He also voiced the hope that his recent meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko would help the cause of peace in the world and religious freedom in Russia.

Action Expected By September On School Aide Post

An assistant superintendent of schools is expected to be chosen by the start of the fall school term in East Liverpool, Supt. Paul Blair said today.

The post will be vacant June 30 when George Hargraves Jr. ends his duties to become superintendent of a new school district in Meigs County.

Blair said three have indicated interest in the position, but he has not interviewed anyone yet. He said two of the tentative applicants are from the city school district, while the third is from elsewhere.

The assistant superintendent post this past year paid $10,300, but the salary figure could be adjusted either way for a replacement.

To fill the post, Blair will make a recommendation to the Board of Education, which can either approve or reject it.

Mrs. Arlan Hoopes of North Georgetown, organizational director for the county unit, planned to attend but is confined at home with a broken foot.

Judge C. William O'Neill of the Ohio Supreme Court spoke on "Citizens' Responsibility for Good Government" at the luncheon meeting.

OFBF holds the annual meeting to initiate its policy development process from the county to the national levels.

A. General anesthesia (being "put to sleep" with ether, etc.) usually deadens the sense of hearing completely before the level of surgical anesthesia is reached. Hearing is, however, the last of the senses to be lost (and the first to return). In certain circumstances the surgeon may wish to keep the patient under light anesthesia, during which no pain is felt but hearing may be very acute.

PREMATURITY DEFINED

Q. How can you tell for sure whether a baby is premature?

A. Medically, a premature baby is one weighing 5½ pounds or less at birth. This definition, which relates prematurity to weight rather than to gestation period, is generally accepted with full knowledge that twins and certain other infants born at the usual time weigh less than 5½ pounds. Such underweight babies require special care and are thus classified as "premature" even though they may not be early arrivals.

C. M. Lampmann Jr. of 3225 St. Clair Ave. is among those attending the sessions of the Continuing Education Symposium on ceramics sponsored by the State University of New York College of Ceramics at Alfred University, Alfred, N.Y., which will wind up today.

Lampman, a ceramic engineer with the Homer Laughlin China Co. at Newell, was one of 30 representing 20 firms during the five-day program of lectures and laboratory sessions.

The symposium presented lectures by representatives of research organizations, industrial firms and educational institutions on recent technical developments related to the production of whitewares and other ceramic products.

Chertoff Dismisses Bad Check Affidavit

Acting at the request of the complaint, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today dismissed an affidavit in which Carol Williams of New Springfield was accused of issuing a fraudulent $738 check.

The affidavit was signed by H. James Allison, secretary-treasurer of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association. He alleged that the woman issued the forged check on June 17 on the S.S. Kresge Co., payable to H. A. Felger & Son and drawn on the National City Bank of Detroit. Dated June 15, the check had been endorsed: "H. A. Felger Son—Carol Williams," the affidavit said.

Allison told the court he asked dismissal because the woman has made restitution for the alleged fraudulent check.

Suspension Upheld In Wellsville Case

The Ohio Liquor Control Commission at Columbus said the Common Pleas Court at Franklin County has affirmed a commission ruling of a 14-day suspension against the Newhouse Tavern at 1317 Main St., Wellsville.

The suspension will begin at noon Wednesday and end at noon July 13. The case was heard Nov. 2, 1965, before the commission, but the permitholders filed an appeal in the Franklin County court.

Mention Of Castro Missing Recently Over Havana Radio

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mention of Fidel Castro has been strangely missing lately in broadcasts over the government-controlled radio in Cuba.

Miami monitors of Havana Radio have not heard the Cuban prime minister mentioned throughout this week. They recalled only sparse mention of him since he was reported inspecting Hurricane Alma's damage June 8.

That contrasts sharply with former daily mention of Castro in newscasts and other reports.

It also coincides with widespread speculation as to Castro's status. Robert McCloskey, U.S. State Department press officer, fanned the conjectures by commenting on Castro's "uncharacteristic silence."

But exiles, often gullible to the numerous rumors about things happening to their enemy No. 1, are mostly wary of this one. They point out that Castro has played hard to find before.

One of the prime minister's most vociferous critics, his sister Juanita, who lives here in self-imposed exile, has remained silent on speculation as to his whereabouts.

Castro, who likes to make speeches, made his last broadcast address on May 1. He called President Johnson "one of the greatest criminals in history." He told his people that Cuba's vital sugar crop would be small.

On June 4, Castro was reported seen on television among officials attending a function at which President Osvaldo Dorticos spoke.

The Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, a Miami-based group comprised of Americans, said it had reports from good sources that Castro has been undergoing electric-shock medical treatments. It said the reports, from diplomatic quarters and from the Cuban underground, added that a double has been making appearances for Castro.

Action Expected By September On School Aide Post

An assistant superintendent of schools is expected to be chosen by the start of the fall school term in East Liverpool, Supt. Paul Blair said today.

The post will be vacant June 30 when George Hargraves Jr. ends his duties to become superintendent of a new school district in Meigs County.

Blair said three have indicated interest in the position, but he has not interviewed anyone yet. He said two of the tentative applicants are from the city school district, while the third is from elsewhere.

The assistant superintendent post this past year paid $10,300, but the salary figure could be adjusted either way for a replacement.

To fill the post, Blair will make a recommendation to the Board of Education, which can either approve or reject it.

What Happens After Induction

This is the third in a series that tells what every young man should know about his prospects for service in the armed forces.

By ELTON FAY

Until today you were a civilian, even though you had signed a paper back home as a draftee or volunteer and been handed an order to report for duty.

But when you stepped down from a bus just now — dressed like most of the others with you in slacks, a sport shirt or pullover sweater and loafer shoes—you crossed the threshold. You were in the military.

Induction, processing and basic training centers are essentially the same whether Army, Navy, Marine or Air Force. They look pretty much alike, have the same purposes.

Because the Army's proportion of manpower is the largest, let's use its induction and basic training center at Fort Dix, N.J., as typical.

HERE IT IS, ready to engulf You go into a building under a sign which says simply "U.S. Army Reception Station." Beneath is another lettered on a pointing arrow, "Report Here." And tacked below that is one more saying "Quiet."

During the coming weeks you are going to do a lot of "reporting here" and a lot of listening while keeping "quiet."

When you report, whether as a draftee, reservist or volunteer, be sure you have some records with you.

There should be certified copies of your birth certificate as well as those of your family; your marriage certificate, if any, and if either you or your present wife has been married before, records to show death or divorce.

A non - commissioned officer, probably a sergeant meets your arriving group and leads you in.

YOU ARE about to become a "private." Or if you are entering the Navy you'll start out as "seaman recruit;" in the Air Force, "airman basic," and in the Marines, "private."

Your first image of the Army will be a sergeant. You'll be seeing and hearing from sergeants for a long time.

Almost simultaneously, four things are done to start you off.

You get a first issue of clothing to make you look like a soldier. You get a medical going over which includes a blood test, a tuberculosis test, and an examination of your arms for any tell - tale traces of narcotics needle pricks. Yout get an Army haircut. They begin "processing" you.

"Processing" is an in word, man! The military uses it for everything from preparing strategy for waging wars down to asking you who you are, then giving you a label and a number.

You begin by filling out forms about yourslf, which provide the foundation for the military record while you are in service—the "201 file," the Army calls it. You also get your dog tag and the "ID" identification card, with photograph and fingerprints.

Don't think you are singled out because the military sends a copy of your fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The FBI also gets them from many other sources.

THE PRIMARY purpose of the military is to have handy a picture of you and your fingerprints for its own security purposes as well as to help identify you should you be injured, wounded or killed in action.

The FBI, which now has more than 170 million records, uses them not only as an aid for itself and other law enforcement agencies, but for the same purpose of identification in event of accident.

The questionnaire includes the usual vital statistics about names and residences of parents and wife; your residences since your 16th birthday or during the past 15 years (whichever is shorter), plus questions (for yes or no answers).

Are you an alien or naturalized citizen of the United States? Any foreign connections, interests or employment or military service? Ever employed by a company with contracts of classified nature? Ever been in U.S. military service or employed by the federal government? Any arrest or court record?

Now comes a "briefing," and we'll tell you about that tomorrow.

Salineville Span Repaired; Work Now Slated At Lisbon

LISBON — Sutton & Stewart, Bridgeport contractor, finished a bridge job Wednesday at Salineville and is due here Monday to replace the Pritchard Ave. span.

"Real smooth," Salineville residents said Thursday of the new floor on the Main St. bridge opposite Hillyer's Foodliner.

The Route 39 job consisted of removing the corrugated metal floor from the 20-by-89-foot span and laying a new floor of 3-by-6-inch creosoted timbers.

Sutton & Stewart had been awarded the State Highway Department contract on a low bid of $8,200. Columbiana County contributed 25 per cent, or $2,050. Traffic was detoured during construction.

The firm bid $20,657 for the Pritchard Ave. project—a steel beam bridge with 7-inch reinforced concrete deck. Lisbon Council obtained the necessary easements and the county will stand all the expense.

County Engineer John Ursu said the new bridge will be 47 feet long and 29½ feet wide, including a three - foot sidewalk with railings on the south side. The existing iron bridge over Mill Site Creek is narrow and rickety.

The top row of stone of the existing abutments will be removed and the remaining stone capped with concrete. Ursu said he expects the bridge will be open in time for the County Fair beginning Aug. 24.

Railroads spent almost $1.5 billion in 1965 for fuel and operating materials and supplies, the fourth straight annual increase.

Chinese Premier Now Heading For Talks In Albania

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai left for Albania today after talks with Romanian leaders that were clearly marked by disagreement over Peking's refusal to come to terms with Moscow.

Neither Chou nor Romanian Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer gave any indication in their farewell speeches of any progress toward agreement in more than 20 hours of talks during Chou's seven-day stay.

Strong evidence of discord came Thursday night when a Chinese-Romanian friendship rally was delayed for more than two hours by a reported dispute over the speech Chou was to give.

Romanian Communist party chief Nicolae Ceausescu was reliably reported to have disagreed with the attack Chou planned to make on the Soviet Union and to have persuaded him to omit any reference to the crucial issues of the feud.

Communist sources said the Romanian leader threatened to call off the rally unless Chou agreed to refrain from attacking the Soviets. Chou finally gave in and gave a routine speech which omitted mention of Ceausescu and referred to the Romanian people rather than the regime.

Newell Boy Arrested On Auto Theft Charge

A 15 - year - old Newell boy is in custody today at the Hancock County Jail in New Cumberland, charged with the theft of an auto from an East Liverpool dealer's lot a week ago.

The auto was recovered at 5:30 p.m. yesterday on Dead Man's Rd., also known as Fox Hunter's Rd., deputies said.

The car was removed to a Chester auto dealer's garage. Deputies said the youth probably will be turned over to Columbiana County authorities for prosecution.

Salineville Span Repaired; Work Now Slated At Lisbon

LISBON — Sutton & Stewart, Bridgeport contractor, finished a bridge job Wednesday at Salineville and is due here Monday to replace the Pritchard Ave. span.

"Real smooth," Salineville residents said Thursday of the new floor on the Main St. bridge opposite Hillyer's Foodliner.

The Route 39 job consisted of removing the corrugated metal floor from the 20-by-89-foot span and laying a new floor of 3-by-6-inch creosoted timbers.

Sutton & Stewart had been awarded the State Highway Department contract on a low bid of $8,200. Columbiana County contributed 25 per cent, or $2,050. Traffic was detoured during construction.

The firm bid $20,657 for the Pritchard Ave. project—a steel beam bridge with 7-inch reinforced concrete deck. Lisbon Council obtained the necessary easements and the county will stand all the expense.

County Engineer John Ursu said the new bridge will be 47 feet long and 29½ feet wide, including a three - foot sidewalk with railings on the south side. The existing iron bridge over Mill Site Creek is narrow and rickety.

The top row of stone of the existing abutments will be removed and the remaining stone capped with concrete. Ursu said he expects the bridge will be open in time for the County Fair beginning Aug. 24.

Railroads spent almost $1.5 billion in 1965 for fuel and operating materials and supplies, the fourth straight annual increase.

Chinese Premier Now Heading For Talks In Albania

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai left for Albania today after talks with Romanian leaders that were clearly marked by disagreement over Peking's refusal to come to terms with Moscow.

Neither Chou nor Romanian Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer gave any indication in their farewell speeches of any progress toward agreement in more than 20 hours of talks during Chou's seven-day stay.

Strong evidence of discord came Thursday night when a Chinese-Romanian friendship rally was delayed for more than two hours by a reported dispute over the speech Chou was to give.

Romanian Communist party chief Nicolae Ceausescu was reliably reported to have disagreed with the attack Chou planned to make on the Soviet Union and to have persuaded him to omit any reference to the crucial issues of the feud.

Communist sources said the Romanian leader threatened to call off the rally unless Chou agreed to refrain from attacking the Soviets. Chou finally gave in and gave a routine speech which omitted mention of Ceausescu and referred to the Romanian people rather than the regime.

The car was removed to a Chester auto dealer's garage. Deputies said the youth probably will be turned over to Columbiana County authorities for prosecution.

CINCINNATI (AP)—A freak accident has claimed the life of Louis S. Holtmeier, 65, wiring department superintendent superintendent for the Cincinnati Transit Co.

Pottery Union Local Slated At Ohio Brass

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today it has taken the first steps toward organizing a new local to represent employes of the Ohio Brass Co. at its plant in Newell — the former Edwin M. Knowles China Co. facility.

The IBOP said a meeting was held at the international headquarters on Route 7 Wednesday for employes of the new plant seeking affiliation with the potters' union. It said all those attending were former members of the IBOP.

The International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM) and the United Electrical Workers Union (UE) also are seeking to organize the employes of Ohio Brass of Newell, the IBOP said.

Ohio Brass has set a target date of Sept. 1 to start the new operation for production of electrical porcelain.

Meanwhile, the IBOP reported it has signed new contracts with concerns in East Palestine and Crooksville.

A two-year pact signed with the Electrical Refractories Co. in East Palestine grants an increase of 10 - cents hourly for each year for the members of Local 156, the union said.

The local also received three additional paid holidays — Labor Day, Thanksgiving and New Years — an improved insurance plan and clarification of contract language, the IBOP reported.

A three - year contract signed with Maurice A. Knight & Son Co. of Crooksville grants members of Local 200 a 16 - cent hourly spread over the life of the pact; a 2-cent shift differential the first year; the addition of Memorial Day and New Year's Day as paid holidays, and an improved insurance plan.

Fishing 'Derby' Slated For Cubs

The pack also has scheduled a visit July 3 to Schoenbrunn Village State Memorial at New Philadelphia, a replica of the first Moravian Indian mission village in Ohio. Plans for the two events were made Monday night when the pack held a wiener roast at Tomlinson Run State Park. Seventy attended.

John Hill, cubmaster, presented bobcat awards to John Hopper, Steve Lewis, Donald Adams, James Meade, Scott McCoy, Philip Watson, Mike Wolfe and John Garver. Denner stripes went to Steve Garner and Paul Hermann, while Randy Meadows received an assistant denner stripe. Greg Vincent was given a wolf badge, while Tom Arnold and Randy Meadows received silver arrows under the wolf badge.

Motorists cars broke down on the highways a total of 69,746,000 times during 1965, according to the American Automobile Association, which says this was an increase of eight per cent over 1964, while the number of passenger cars on the road had increased by only five per cent. Battery and electric failures were listed as the number one causes of breakdowns, with tire and carburetor troubles running an increasingly close second.

Freak Mishap Claims Cincinnati Man, 65

CINCINNATI (AP)—A freak accident has claimed the life of Louis S. Holtmeier, 65, wiring department superintendent superintendent for the Cincinnati Transit Co.

Holtmeier was tightening a low-hanging wire Wednesday night when a tractor trailer hit it. The wire snapped back and knocked Holtmeier from the top of his company truck. He died Thursday.

Farmer's assets on January 1, 1966 were $253 billion. That's more than the value of such industries as transportation, petroleum, electric power, steel, iron, and chemicals combined, and three-fourths as much as the value of all manufacturing corporations.

Pottery Union Local Slated At Ohio Brass

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today it has taken the first steps toward organizing a new local to represent employes of the Ohio Brass Co. at its plant in Newell — the former Edwin M. Knowles China Co. facility.

The IBOP said a meeting was held at the international headquarters on Route 7 Wednesday for employes of the new plant seeking affiliation with the potters' union. It said all those attending were former members of the IBOP.

The International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM) and the United Electrical Workers Union (UE) also are seeking to organize the employes of Ohio Brass of Newell, the IBOP said.

Ohio Brass has set a target date of Sept. 1 to start the new operation for production of electrical porcelain.

Meanwhile, the IBOP reported it has signed new contracts with concerns in East Palestine and Crooksville.

A two-year pact signed with the Electrical Refractories Co. in East Palestine grants an increase of 10 - cents hourly for each year for the members of Local 156, the union said.

The local also received three additional paid holidays — Labor Day, Thanksgiving and New Years — an improved insurance plan and clarification of contract language, the IBOP reported.

A three - year contract signed with Maurice A. Knight & Son Co. of Crooksville grants members of Local 200 a 16 - cent hourly spread over the life of the pact; a 2-cent shift differential the first year; the addition of Memorial Day and New Year's Day as paid holidays, and an improved insurance plan.

Fishing 'Derby' Slated For Cubs

Cub Scout Pack 43, sponsored by the Pleasant Heights School, will hold a father-son "fishing derby" July 16 at Willow Grove Park in Lisbon.

The pack also has scheduled a visit July 3 to Schoenbrunn Village State Memorial at New Philadelphia, a replica of the first Moravian Indian mission village in Ohio. Plans for the two events were made Monday night when the pack held a wiener roast at Tomlinson Run State Park. Seventy attended.

John Hill, cubmaster, presented bobcat awards to John Hopper, Steve Lewis, Donald Adams, James Meade, Scott McCoy, Philip Watson, Mike Wolfe and John Garver. Denner stripes went to Steve Garner and Paul Hermann, while Randy Meadows received an assistant denner stripe. Greg Vincent was given a wolf badge, while Tom Arnold and Randy Meadows received silver arrows under the wolf badge.

Motorists cars broke down on the highways a total of 69,746,000 times during 1965, according to the American Automobile Association, which says this was an increase of eight per cent over 1964, while the number of passenger cars on the road had increased by only five per cent. Battery and electric failures were listed as the number one causes of breakdowns, with tire and carburetor troubles running an increasingly close second.

City Warned Against Use Of Fireworks

Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne today warned against the use of fireworks, pointing out they will begin appearing shortly with the approach of the July 4 holiday.

The chief said the fire department and the office of the state fire marshal "is proud of the record that has been established the past few years." The number of injuries caused by fireworks has dropped steadily, he pointed out.

"But this does not mean that fireworks are safer than they used to be," the chief warned. He said the increased vigilance of all — fire departments, police agencies, parents and merchants — has helped cut down the unlawful use.

Insurance Premiums Explained

This is the 11th in a series by Robert V. Harris, social security district manager here, on how medicare will work when it begins in July. The information is based on "Your Medicare Handbook," the guide that will be issued to all medicare beneficiaries during June.

By ROBERT V. HARRIS

The medical insurance program is financed by monthly premiums paid by those who sign up for this protection and by matching payments from general revenues of the federal government.

The monthly premium rate (and the matching government payment) will be $3 for each person enrolled, at least until 1968.

The law requires that the premium rates be examined every two years, starting in 1967. If this examination shows that the premium rate, including the government share, is not enough to cover the cost of the program for the next two years, the rate may be changed. The government would continue to pay half the cost.

—:—

THE $3 PREMIUM will be deducted from your monthly checks if you receive social security, railroad retirement or civil service benefits, beginning with the check you receive at the beginning of the month your medical insurance protection begins.

If you are not receiving any of the above benefits, you will pay the premiums directly to the Social Security Administration or the Railroad Retirement Board.

If you are eligible for social security benefits but are not getting monthly checks (for example, because of high earnings from work), you will be sent a premium due notice telling you when to pay.

If you are not eligible for social security, railroad retirement or civil service benefits, you will receive a premium due notice for $9 every 3 months.

If you prefer, you can arrange through the social security office to pay your premiums in monthly installments of $3 each. But if you wish to pay premiums in advance, you may pay for up to 1 year simply by increasing the amount of your payment by $3 for each additional month you wish to pay for.

A PUNCHCARD and return envelope for you to use in sending in the payment will be enclosed with the premium notice. Be sure to send in your payments promptly, and pay by personal check or money order instead of sending cash. And remember to return the punchcard with your payment. If you fail to send in your premium payments, your medical insurance coverage will be terminated, after reasonable notice.

In some states, people who are getting public assistance payments will have their medical insurance premiums paid by the state public assistance agency.

If your medical insurance premiums will be paid this way and you have any questions about the premiums, you should talk with the people in your local public assistance office.

You are not under any obligation to continue your medical insurance coverage. If you wish to drop out of the medical insurance program, you may do so by giving written notice to the Social Security Administration during a general enrollment period.

Calm Prevails In Riot-Torn Florida City

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A relative calm prevailed in the riot-ridden Negro section of Pompano Beach today with police and Negro leaders anticipating a prompt return to normalcy.

"I really think it's all over," said the Rev. Samuel Collier, pastor of the Mount Calvary Negro Baptist Church, a leader in efforts to restore peace.

And Police Chief Joseph Ziegler said he had no plans to dispatch extra police units into the area where some 600 Negroes rioted Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

Liquor stores and bars, closed Wednesday as bands of Negroes roamed, were open for business.

The only place boarded up was Russ' supermarket, where a white owner, Arthur Marks, 42, was alleged to have slapped a 10-year-old Negro boy Tuesday, touching off the disturbance.

Marks was charged with assault and battery. He moved out of his house and is reportedly staying at a hotel. He is free on $500 bond. Trial is scheduled for Monday.

Twenty-eight persons were arrested for disorderly conduct during the rioting that drew over 100 members of the riot squads from three police departments

The Rev. Mr. Collier, Mayor Stewart Kester and other white and Negro leaders planned a discussion of the problems that led to the first racial outburst in this city of 16,000.

The prince suffered injuries to his chest, head and arms. A hospital spokesman said he was comfortable this morning.

The collision occurred near Weymouth, in Dorset, 130 miles from London.

The prince, 26, a lieutenant in the Saudi Arabian army, has been on a training course at a British army camp in Dorset. He was riding in an army vehicle with a British officer and a British private soldier. The Britons also were injured.

A man and his wife in the other car were killed.

Senate's Action Slated Today On Auto Safety Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate takes up today auto safety legislation designed to reduce highway death and accident tolls and encourage the development of more effective auto safety programs.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told newsmen he hoped the legislation could be passed by tonight. The Senate was scheduled to begin debate two hours early.

If not approved today, Mansfield said, it should be cleared and sent to the House early next week.

Strong support for auto safety legislation has built up in Congress in the light of steadily mounting highway death and injury totals. There is little question that the legislators will act in this field before the 1966 session ends.

Two separate bills now are pending before the Senate, but they may be merged into one before final passage.

Experts Warn Against Hope On Quick Cure For Pollution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A legislative study on water pollution has been warned against hoping for quick cures for pollution and that a complete cleansing of Ohio's lakes, rivers and streams may be neither possible nor desirable.

"There is no sense," said Frank A. Butrico of Battelle Memorial Institute's Washington, D.C., office, "in talking of cleansing up all of the state's rivers for recreation and industrial purposes." Such improvements in some streams would be too expensive, he said.

Butrico, one of four pollution experts appearing before the study subcommittee Thursday, also warned, "We can't restore Lake Erie to its state of pristine purity.

"We can't even partially restore it in a short period of time," he added.

He said not enough is known about waterways themselves to hope that pollution can be eliminated simply by controlling municipal and industrial discharges into them.

"The crux of the problem," he said, "isn't the effluent, but what is happening in that river."

The researcher noted that not all discharges are harmful, and in some cases, treament plans for individual industries are not necessary. Some industries might be able to avoid polluting a stream merely by holding their discharges until a certain season is past, he said.

We have to find out "what is happening out there in the river," he explained. "To treat the effluent at the plant, we may find that the net effect is nil."

The subcommittee is working with the Legislative Service Commission, fact-finding arm of the legislature, and will present its recommendations for action to the next General Assembly.

Ohio's Failing In Obligation To Examine Banks, Unit Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is failing in its legal obligation to examine its state banks every year, a legislative committee studying banking laws was told Thursday.

A Legislative Service Commission report prepared for the joint Senate-House committee showed that state examiners examined only 80 per cent of all state banks in 1963, 62 per cent in 1964 and 70 per cent last year.

The report pictured growth of the banking industry, expanded banking services and a shortage of state examiners as major reasons for the lag.

Another report indicated that examiners of the Ohio Division of Banks carry heavier work loads than examiners in other states.

Ohio examiners, it said, generally are responsible for 24 banks each, while the median in other states is 13. Total assets of banks assigned to each Ohio examiner totaled $227 million, compared to a median of $79 million in other states.

The committee was set up by the last legislature to study Ohio banking laws — virtually unchanged for 30 years — and report possible changes to the next General Assembly, convening next January.

The issue of state banks voting shares of their own stocks held in trust, contended by some of the legislators and several witnesses to be a common practice in Ohio banks, was not discussed at Thursday's session. The controversial issue had predominated the discussion previously.

20 Ministers Join March Into Wooster

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Twenty Methodist ministers from the North-East Ohio Conference at Lakeside joined the "Walk for Decent Welfare" Thursday for the last three miles into Wooster.

Delegates to the annual conference have voted support for the march, and the ministers showed their support by walking from Madisonburg in Wayne County to Wooster before returning to Lakeside.

A cross-burning in the parking lot of the Jackson Presbyterian Church where the marchers slept Wednesday night, amused rather than frightened them, they said.

The march left the Wayne County farming community of Jackson at 8 a.m. Thursday and walked another 11 miles of their 155-mile trek from Cleveland to Columbus.

The group reached Wooster by mid-afternoon where marchers went to private homes for food and lodging.

The ten-day march began Monday and will end June 30 at the Statehouse steps in Columbus.

The Ohio Steering Committee for Adequate Welfare which sponsors the march, hopes to get Gov. James A. Rhodes to call a special meeting of the General Assembly that would increase payments for about 275,000 general relief and Aid to Dependent Children welfare clients.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Continued warm weather is predicted for Ohio through Wednesday with temperatures 5 to 10 degrees above normal. Representative normal highs and lows: Cleveland 81-59, Cincinnati 86-66, and Columbus 86-61. Thundershowers mainly around the middle of next week will average about one-half inch.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 19 years old—old enough to know better, but I didn't. I thought I was in love with an older man (32 to be exact) and I did some very foolish things.

Rex told me I had the most fantastic fiure he ever had seen and he wanted to do an oil painting of me—in the nude. It was necessary to take some snapshots so he could work from them between sittings, he said.

I agreed, although I never had seen a canvas he had painted and there was no sign of a paint brush or an easel in his apartment.

Last week Rex took the snapshots. When he showed them to me yesterday, I got sick at my stomach. I must have been insane. This whole picture thing has made me realize how unbelievably stupid I was to believe a word he had said.

I told Rex I had changed my mind about sitting for the painting and I asked for the snapshots. He refused to give them to me. I want to stop seeing him but I'm afraid what he might do if I try to end the relationshio.

He really has the goods on me and I'm at his mercy. Please help.—BODY BEAUTIFUL.

-:-

Dear Body Beautiful: I don't know about your body but your brain belongs in Harvard—in a bottle.

Stop seeing this man at once. If he makes any attempt to blackmail you, see a lawyer.

Annoying Habit

Dear Ann: A friend who is supposed to be well-bred has a habit that is becoming annoying. First I should tell you that she is about 20 years younger than I am. (I'm 65.)

My name is uncommon but it is not difficult to pronouce. This friend who knows very well what my name is, changes it slightly and thinks she is being very amusing. Here is an example of what she does: Say my name is Mrs.Greenly; she calls me Mrs. Greenriver or Mrs. Greengrass or Mrs. Greenhorn.

Up until now I have managed a good-natured smile but I'm getting fed up.

Should I rise above her bad manners and ignore them? Or should I let her know how I feel?—VANCOUVER.

Dear Vancouver: Your friend (?) is guilty of atrocious bad taste and you ought to stop smiling good-naturedly at her crude attempts to be funny—at your expense.

The next time she makes a joke of your name, tell her the humor is wearing mighty thin and if she cannot remember your name you will be happy to tell her what is is.

Son To Father

Dear Ann: My mother died a few years ago and my dad has taken out some nice women, which is fine with me. I know he is lonesome and I can understand his need for female companionship.

A few months ago he started to see a tramp. I didn't say anything because I figured it was his business. But last Friday he brought this tramp to our house with an overnight case—for the weekend. I was very hurt that my father would cheapen our house like that.

I'm 16 years old (a boy) and wonder if I have the right to say something to him.—ANONYMOUS.

-:-

Dear A.: You do, and you should. And if your father suggests you are out of line, ask him to write to me, please.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Officers Cite Driver, 44, In 3-Way Crash

A 44-year-old Florida motorist was cited by police late Thursday night after his car crashed into two parked autos on the three-lane section of St. Clair Ave. just south of the crest of the grade, officers reported.

The collision damaged a 1960 four-door sedan driven by Stanley W. Talbott of Miami, a parked 1959 model owned by Pauline Nellis of 401 Thompson Ave. and a parked 1964 four-door owned by Edith B. Dunlap of Park Blvd., officers reported.

Patrolmen Ronald J. Brookes and James W. Buckley, who investigated, charged Talbott with failure to stop in the assured clear distance. The collision was timed at 11:53 p. m. on St. Clair 100 feet north of Princeton Ave.

Talbott told the officer he was driving in the right-hand lane as he went over the crest of the St. Clair grade. He said he saw another car approaching, so he remained in the right lane.

He said he did not see the Nellis and Dunlap cars until too late to avoid a collision. They were parked at the extreme right of the street, police said. Talbott said he swung to the left when he saw the autos, but struck the Nellis car and shoved it forward into the Dunlap vehicle.

The crash damaged the right front of Talbott's car, the left rear fender, bumper and trunk lid of the Nellis car and the rear of the Dunlap auto, police said.

Talbott forfeited a $32.50 appearance bond today in Municial Court.

"Very minor" damage resulted in a collision Thursday at 2:53 p. m. on Walnut St. at E. 3rd St., officers said.

It involved a southbound 1965 model compact driven by Donald G. Lyons, 29, of 1017 2nd Ave., New Cumberland, and a northbound 1957 model station wagon operated by Paula Lynn Mercer, 18, of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1, officers said.

There was damage to the left rear fender of the Lyons car and the left front of the Mercer auto. Each driver blamed the other for the collision, according to Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr., who investigated.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Here's a tip for gals who like to do their hair up at night with brush rollers:

Cut strips of paper about 2 inches long and 1½-inch wide and before giving the last turn to the roller, put the paper on and roll.

The pin will go through the paper to hold it in place but those stiff bristles won't come through the paper to stick your head.

MRS. WILBUR LARMER.

I thank you from the top of my head for this tip-top-tip! I tried it, and it worked perfectly . . . ohhh, how much more comfortable it was!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When painting a chair, place it on a bridge table protected by lots of newspapers.

At that height, every spot may be missed in your painting is in sight.

I learned this when a sore knee made it hard for me to paint at floor level.

E.C.

DEAR HELOISE: My 4-year-old's shoes are always coming untied during the day until one day he asked me to tie his shoes at the time that I was washing dishes.

I stopped to tie his shoes but didn't dry my hands. During the rest of the day he didn't come back any more for me to tie his shoestrings. My wet hands had made the shoestrings tie tighter and not come loose.

I do hope this hint will help other mothers—it certainly has helped me as far as my back is concerned . . . by not having to stoop so often to tie shoe laces.

MRS. KARL E. LESTER.

DEAR HELOISE: I'm a piano teachr and when a music book is opened on the piano it sometimes won't stay open.

I put a clothespin on each side of the book.

R.M.P.

-:-

This also is a wonderful hint for children practicing on any instrument, as the pages usually flop shut when the practice book is on the music rack.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep my stamps in a match box—covered with decorative adhesive-backed paper.

Every time I use a stamp, I pay for it and when it's time to replace them, enough money is there to buy more stamps.

BETTY PARKS.

DEAR HELOISE: Take along a cookie sheet with shallow sides for your next auto trip (to hold your child's writing and drawing paper).

Colors, pencils, etc., don't roll off.

It's a good lap desk. Mom borrows it while the little one sleeps and his daddy drives.

A READER.

-:-

This same cookie sheet is an excellent lap tray for the little ones in the back seat when they eat in the car at a drive-in.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Occasionally, I have purchased a shade of lipstick too dark for me.

A simple remedy is to buy a very light shade and apply it as a second coat after the first dark coat sets and is blotted.

Instead of a loss, one can come up with some new shades that are very flattering.

ALICE IRENE.

Driver, 19, Unhurt

Gregory Hamadock, 19, of Elizabeth, Pa., escaped injury when his 1960 compact auto struck a utility pole along Route 7, a mile south of Rogers, Thursday morning, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said. Hamadock apparently fell asleep and the auto left the highway.

Stewardess, 20, Beaten Fatally; Another Critical

SEATTLE (AP) — An attractive airline stewardess was in critical condition in a hospital today, unaware that her roommate had been killed by an assailant who entered their basement apartment and beat both girls brutally.

Killed in the attack that occurred Thursday was Lonnie Trumbull. In critical condition with multiple fractures of the skull was Lisa Wick. They were found by another roommate, Joyce Bowe, who had spent Tuesday night with friends.

All three were 20, all were from Portland, Ore., and all had graduated from a United Air Lines' training school just six weeks ago.

Det. Sgt. Herb Arnold said a blood-stained piece of wood three inches square and 18 inches long found in a nearby vacant lot was believed to have been the weapon used in the beatings. Purses of the two girls were found but police declined to say where.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dinah Shore—Vitality Plus

It was a joy to talk with Dinah Shore on her recent visit to Washington for her engagement at the Shoreham Hotel. What is she really like, this singing star who has won so many distinguished awards and who is known to millions of people?

Ida Jean Kain

I was instantly struck by her sincerity. It is this quality, plus her natural zest, to which an audience responds. Dinah loves to sing, loves people and gives her all joyously.

—:—

IT TAKES stamina and staying power to have a career and a private life too. What is the secret? Part of her energy is fired by her enthusiasm, which is the core of her inner nature. But equally important, she has learned not to dissipate that priceless quality.

Dinah explained that it took her a long time to realize the value of not depleting herself needlessly. "Staying keyed up burns you out," is the way she expressed it. "I feel wonderful most of the time, I really do. You cannot simulate vitality, but when you crowd every hour you cannot really enjoy living. It is necessary to have a rhythm in your life," she added.

When I commented that it must have taken a special kind of courage to make the big decision to give up her weekly TV hour, she explained that a show of that magnitude required a total commitment. "Until I stopped the TV hour, I didn't realize there was any other way to live," she said candidly.

DINAH IS a disciplined person. She has a positive attitude toward health which she backs up with excellent food and exercise habits. Her weight is controlled by intelligent eating, not by dieting. A hearty breakfast is her favorite meal. . . and so are lunch and dinner. She enjoys food — lean meat, vegetables, salads, fruits and skim milk. She doesn't care for sweets at all. Well, that's the protective pattern that builds healthy leanness. Dinah is 5'6" tall and weighs 130 pounds. Perfect!

An exercise enthusiast, she plays tennis three or four times a week. She also shoots golf because she enjoys the walking. And she swims. With all that natural activity, she takes special exercise for strengthening specific muscles. It's small wonder she has a magnificent posture.

This hard - working singing star deserves all the awards she has won. Dinah Shore is real and wonderful. You would like her.

Traffic Mishaps Claim Lives Of 5 More In Ohio

By The Associated Press

Ohio's latest traffic victims died as a result of accidents involving motorcycles and trucks.

The dead:

William O. Nicholson, 35, Cincinnati.

April Speece, 17, Beloit.

Cynthia McElroy, 16, Beloit.

Harold Finley, 37, Wheeling, W. Va.

Walter Stump, 45, Wharton, Wyandot County.

Nicholson, who lived with relatives in Cincinnati, was killed early Friday when the truck he was driving ran off a curve on Ohio 732 north of Oxford and hit a tree, Butler County sheriff's deputies reported.

The Beloit teen - agers were killed Thursday when the small motorcycle they were riding crashed into the side of a car at Ohio 185 and Courtney Road east of Alliance.

Finley pulled out of a service station driveway and into the path of a truck on U. S. 36 south of Dennison, Tuscarawas County on Thursday.

Stump died in a collision Thursday involving two trucks about eight miles southeast of Findlay.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 19 years old—old enough to know better, but I didn't. I thought I was in love with an older man (32 to be exact) and I did some very foolish things.

Rex told me I had the most fantastic fiure he ever had seen and he wanted to do an oil painting of me—in the nude. It was necessary to take some snapshots so he could work from them between sittings, he said.

I agreed, although I never had seen a canvas he had painted and there was no sign of a paint brush or an easel in his apartment.

Last week Rex took the snapshots. When he showed them to me yesterday, I got sick at my stomach. I must have been insane. This whole picture thing has made me realize how unbelievably stupid I was to believe a word he had said.

I told Rex I had changed my mind about sitting for the painting and I asked for the snapshots. He refused to give them to me. I want to stop seeing him but I'm afraid what he might do if I try to end the relationshio.

He really has the goods on me and I'm at his mercy. Please help.—BODY BEAUTIFUL.

-:-

Dear Body Beautiful: I don't know about your body but your brain belongs in Harvard—in a bottle.

Stop seeing this man at once. If he makes any attempt to blackmail you, see a lawyer.

Annoying Habit

Dear Ann: A friend who is supposed to be well-bred has a habit that is becoming annoying. First I should tell you that she is about 20 years younger than I am. (I'm 65.)

My name is uncommon but it is not difficult to pronouce. This friend who knows very well what my name is, changes it slightly and thinks she is being very amusing. Here is an example of what she does: Say my name is Mrs.Greenly; she calls me Mrs. Greenriver or Mrs. Greengrass or Mrs. Greenhorn.

Up until now I have managed a good-natured smile but I'm getting fed up.

Should I rise above her bad manners and ignore them? Or should I let her know how I feel?—VANCOUVER.

Dear Vancouver: Your friend (?) is guilty of atrocious bad taste and you ought to stop smiling good-naturedly at her crude attempts to be funny—at your expense.

The next time she makes a joke of your name, tell her the humor is wearing mighty thin and if she cannot remember your name you will be happy to tell her what is is.

Son To Father

Dear Ann: My mother died a few years ago and my dad has taken out some nice women, which is fine with me. I know he is lonesome and I can understand his need for female companionship.

A few months ago he started to see a tramp. I didn't say anything because I figured it was his business. But last Friday he brought this tramp to our house with an overnight case—for the weekend. I was very hurt that my father would cheapen our house like that.

I'm 16 years old (a boy) and wonder if I have the right to say something to him.—ANONYMOUS.

-:-

Dear A.: You do, and you should. And if your father suggests you are out of line, ask him to write to me, please.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Officers Cite Driver, 44, In 3-Way Crash

A 44-year-old Florida motorist was cited by police late Thursday night after his car crashed into two parked autos on the three-lane section of St. Clair Ave. just south of the crest of the grade, officers reported.

The collision damaged a 1960 four-door sedan driven by Stanley W. Talbott of Miami, a parked 1959 model owned by Pauline Nellis of 401 Thompson Ave. and a parked 1964 four-door owned by Edith B. Dunlap of Park Blvd., officers reported.

Patrolmen Ronald J. Brookes and James W. Buckley, who investigated, charged Talbott with failure to stop in the assured clear distance. The collision was timed at 11:53 p. m. on St. Clair 100 feet north of Princeton Ave.

Talbott told the officer he was driving in the right-hand lane as he went over the crest of the St. Clair grade. He said he saw another car approaching, so he remained in the right lane.

He said he did not see the Nellis and Dunlap cars until too late to avoid a collision. They were parked at the extreme right of the street, police said. Talbott said he swung to the left when he saw the autos, but struck the Nellis car and shoved it forward into the Dunlap vehicle.

The crash damaged the right front of Talbott's car, the left rear fender, bumper and trunk lid of the Nellis car and the rear of the Dunlap auto, police said.

Talbott forfeited a $32.50 appearance bond today in Municipal Court.

"Very minor" damage resulted in a collision Thursday at 2:53 p. m. on Walnut St. at E. 3rd St., officers said.

It involved a southbound 1965 model compact driven by Donald G. Lyons, 29, of 1017 2nd Ave., New Cumberland, and a northbound 1957 model station wagon operated by Paula Lynn Mercer, 18, of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1, officers said.

There was damage to the left rear fender of the Lyons car and the left front of the Mercer auto. Each driver blamed the other for the collision, according to Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr., who investigated.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Here's a tip for gals who like to do their hair up at night with brush rollers:

Cut strips of paper about 2 inches long and 1½-inch wide and before giving the last turn to the roller, put the paper on and roll.

The pin will go through the paper to hold it in place but those stiff bristles won't come through the paper to stick your head.

MRS. WILBUR LARMER.

I thank you from the top of my head for this tip-top-tip! I tried it, and it worked perfectly . . . ohhh, how much more comfortable it was!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When painting a chair, place it on a bridge table protected by lots of newspapers.

At that height, every spot may be missed in your painting is in sight.

E.C.

DEAR HELOISE: My 4-year-old's shoes are always coming untied during the day until one day he asked me to tie his shoes at the time that I was washing dishes.

I stopped to tie his shoes but didn't dry my hands. During the rest of the day he didn't come back any more for me to tie his shoestrings. My wet hands had made the shoestrings tie tighter and not come loose.

I do hope this hint will help other mothers—it certainly has helped me as far as my back is concerned . . . by not having to stoop so often to tie shoe laces.

MRS. KARL E. LESTER.

DEAR HELOISE: I'm a piano teachr and when a music book is opened on the piano it sometimes won't stay open.

I put a clothespin on each side of the book.

R.M.P.

-:-

This also is a wonderful hint for children practicing on any instrument, as the pages usually flop shut when the practice book is on the music rack.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep my stamps in a match box—covered with decorative adhesive-backed paper.

Every time I use a stamp, I pay for it and when it's time to replace them, enough money is there to buy more stamps.

BETTY PARKS.

DEAR HELOISE: Take along a cookie sheet with shallow sides for your next auto trip (to hold your child's writing and drawing paper).

Colors, pencils, etc., don't roll off.

A READER.

-:-

This same cookie sheet is an excellent lap tray for the little ones in the back seat when they eat in the car at a drive-in.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Occasionally, I have purchased a shade of lipstick too dark for me.

A simple remedy is to buy a very light shade and apply it as a second coat after the first dark coat sets and is blotted.

Instead of a loss, one can come up with some new shades that are very flattering.

ALICE IRENE.

Driver, 19, Unhurt

Gregory Hamadock, 19, of Elizabeth, Pa., escaped injury when his 1960 compact auto struck a utility pole along Route 7, a mile south of Rogers, Thursday morning, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said. Hamadock apparently fell asleep and the auto left the highway.

Stewardess, 20, Beaten Fatally; Another Critical

SEATTLE (AP) — An attractive airline stewardess was in critical condition in a hospital today, unaware that her roommate had been killed by an assailant who entered their basement apartment and beat both girls brutally.

Killed in the attack that occurred Thursday was Lonnie Trumbull. In critical condition with multiple fractures of the skull was Lisa Wick. They were found by another roommate, Joyce Bowe, who had spent Tuesday night with friends.

All three were 20, all were from Portland, Ore., and all had graduated from a United Air Lines' training school just six weeks ago.

Det. Sgt. Herb Arnold said a blood-stained piece of wood three inches square and 18 inches long found in a nearby vacant lot was believed to have been the weapon used in the beatings. Purses of the two girls were found but police declined to say where.

Dinah Shore—Vitality Plus

It was a joy to talk with Dinah Shore on her recent visit to Washington for her engagement at the Shoreham Hotel. What is she really like, this singing star who has won so many distinguished awards and who is known to millions of people?

Ida Jean Kain

I was instantly struck by her sincerity. It is this quality, plus her natural zest, to which an audience responds. Dinah loves to sing, loves people and gives her all joyously.

—:—

IT TAKES stamina and staying power to have a career and a private life too. What is the secret? Part of her energy is fired by her enthusiasm, which is the core of her inner nature. But equally important, she has learned not to dissipate that priceless quality.

Dinah explained that it took her a long time to realize the value of not depleting herself needlessly. "Staying keyed up burns you out," is the way she expressed it. "I feel wonderful most of the time, I really do. You cannot simulate vitality, but when you crowd every hour you cannot really enjoy living. It is necessary to have a rhythm in your life," she added.

When I commented that it must have taken a special kind of courage to make the big decision to give up her weekly TV hour, she explained that a show of that magnitude required a total commitment. "Until I stopped the TV hour, I didn't realize there was any other way to live," she said candidly.

DINAH IS a disciplined person. She has a positive attitude toward health which she backs up with excellent food and exercise habits. Her weight is controlled by intelligent eating, not by dieting. A hearty breakfast is her favorite meal. . . and so are lunch and dinner. She enjoys food — lean meat, vegetables, salads, fruits and skim milk. She doesn't care for sweets at all. Well, that's the protective pattern that builds healthy leanness. Dinah is 5'6" tall and weighs 130 pounds. Perfect!

An exercise enthusiast, she plays tennis three or four times a week. She also shoots golf because she enjoys the walking. And she swims. With all that natural activity, she takes special exercise for strengthening specific muscles. It's small wonder she has a magnificent posture.

This hard - working singing star deserves all the awards she has won. Dinah Shore is real and wonderful. You would like her.

Mays Reaches Another Milestone As Giants Lead By 4½

Ties Record Of Williams With 521st

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Back in Willie Mays' mind there is something he has to live with but won't admit.

It's breaking the all-time home run record of 714 by Babe Ruth.

Landmarks are falling before wondrous Willy of the National League leading San Francisco Giants. As his team swept a four-game series from the Chicago Cubs with a 6-4 victory Thursday and moved on to Cincinnati Friday night, Mays had matched Ted Williams' homer production of 521, third on the all-time list.

Jimmy Foxx is second with 534 and it's taken for granted that Willie will catch this one before too long and become the greatest right-handed home-run production man in major-league history.

Mays smashed his 521st in a 13-year career with the Giants and 16th for the season in the first inning Thursday and collected two singles afterward for his first three-hit game since the seventh game of the season.

But, somehow, in the Giants' dressing room afterwards, Willie wasn't impressed. He didn't even talk about surpassing Foxx but did dwell on Ruth's great record.

"I'm 35 years old now and I don't think I'll ever beat out Ruth, or even come close to him," he said. "I don't feel any pressure in beating Foxx's mark. But for Ruth, I would have to average 35 to 40 homers every season for at least four or five more years and that's asking a lot when you don't know if you will be playing regularly. The older you get the fewer homers you will hit.

"I really felt the pressure this spring when guys came around and asked me when I would homer to beat Mel Ott's mark. Now I don't think of it anymore. There's no pressure anymore. The homer I hit Thursday was just another home run as far as I'm concerned.

"The only records I know about is what I read in the papers. But I'll admit you do think of them a little after you read about it.

"I don't even know what pitch I hit for my 521st (there were two men aboard and it was a 2-0 pitch off Dick Ellsworth). As for records, I just don't try to analyze them. When you start doing that you don't break them. There are so many, I don't know what they mean any more. I don't set any goals."

Elsewhere, Cincinnati won its sixth straight, beating Pittsburgh 5-3 and St. Louis edged Houston 2-1.

In the American League, Baltimore whipped New York 5-2, Cleveland downed Boston 8-6 and Detroit defeated Washington 6-1.

Bob Gibson pitched a four-hitter for his 11th victory as the Cardinals shaded the Astros. Gibson struck out four, raising his total for the year to 139.

Lou Brock tripled leading off in the eighth and rode home on Phil Gagliano's single for St. Louis' winning run.

Tipton's 1-Hit Job Features Little League

Jim Tipton fired a one-hitter and fanned 15 batters as Veteran Plate Glass blanked Travelers Hotel, 1-0, Thursday in the Little League.

Randy Harmon had two hits for Veteran Glass and Howell had the only hit for Travelers.

Golden Star received some three - hit pitching from Kevin Francis in a 12-2 victory over Vernon Dell.

Mike Linville had four singles and Tom Coplin three hits to pace Golden Star's 15-hit attack. Henderson doubled and singled for Vernon Dell.

Burbick's posted an 8-3 win over Parson's as Brown was the winning pitcher. Talbott tripled and Jackson doubled for Burbick's with Yanni collecting two singles for Burbick's.

Terrell, Jones Ease Up On Ring Workouts

HOUSTON (AP) — Ernie Terrell, World Boxing Association heavyweight champion, and challenger Doug Jones planned little or no work today.

Bonus Baby Disappears, Waits Action

BOSTON (AP) — Jerry Stephenson, a young right-hander Boston Red Sox in 1962, faced stiff disciplinary action today for his disappearance act.

The 22-year-old Stephenson was suspended without pay, effective Last Friday, when he was assigned on option to Toronto in the International League and failed to report.

Stephenson left Boston last Saturday, presumably headed for Toronto. A search was started when he failed to join the Boston farm club.

The Red Sox were notified Thursday that Stephenson called his mother from Flagstaff, Ariz., and said he was driving to the family home in Anaheim, Calif. The Red Sox then imposed the suspension and said the young hurler was subject to further disciplinary action.

Signed out of high school for a reported bonus of more than $75,000 by his father, Joe, a Red Sox scout, Stephenson had a 1-5 record while bothered by arm trouble as a major league rookie last year.

He showed no sign of arm misery this season, but was ineffective, winning only two of seven decisions with a 5.86 earned run average.

Mike Hershberger of the Kansas City Athletics has the distinction of leading the American League in assists made by outfielders last season. He had 14, two more than Jose Cardenal of the California Angels.

Sterling China Posts 7-1 Win

Jerry Bucher hurled Sterling China to a 7-1 victory over Super Foods by turning in a four-hitter Thursday in the Wellsville Babe Ruth League.

Lee Crook knocked in four runs with two hits while Pierson tripled for the losers. Pugliani was the losing hurler.

'The Rock' Regains Homer Touch

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's time to stop throwing stones at the Rock.

For Rocky Colavito, plagued by people who have asked him what's happened to his home-run touch, has supplied the answer to his detractors by hammering four homers in a 24-hour period that ended Thursday when he led Cleveland to an 8-6 victory over Boston.

Only last week the 32-year-old Indians' slugger was discussing his pet peeve, the people looking for his home-run touch. But the Rock hadn't lost it — just misplaced it.

"Whenever I'm not going good someone asks me if I've lost my home-run touch," Colavito said. "They want to know every time you have a bad spell. Now that I've been around awhile, they ask it even more often.

"Have I lost my home-run touch?" Colavito asked rhetorically. "No."

Why then was Colavito having such a hard time finding the range this year, following a 1965 season in which he hit only 26 homers?

"Nobody's the same as he was a couple of years ago," said Colavito, who has hit more than 40 homers three times in his 12-year major-league career. "I'm not the real free swinger I used to be. I try to be more consistent now.

"As for right now, I haven't been timing things right. It's usually a simple thing like timing 98 or 99 times out of a 100 that gets you in a slump. But guys are always looking for a real big reason — like you've lost your home-run touch."

Since last week Colavito has hit at a .35' clip and obviously found the home-run range. He hit three in a doubleheader against Boston Wednesday night, then continued his homer hammering with another against the Red Sox Thursday.

While Colavito continued his torrid hitting, the Detroit Tigers did the same, belting out a Washington starter in the first inning for the third straight day as they romped to a 6-1 victory.

The American League leading Baltimore Orioles rode two homers by Brooks Robinson to a 5-2 triumph over the New York Yankees in the only other game scheduled, maintaining their two-game lead over the second-place Tigers and three-game bulge over the Indians.

Colavito's homer, his 11th of the season, broke a 1-1 tie in the third inning and the Indians never were headed. Fred Whitfield, Jim Landis and Chico Salmon also homered for Cleveland.

The Tigers jumped on Mike McCormick for three first-inning runs on walks to Dick McAuliffe and Norm Cash, Al Kaline's two-run double and a single by Willie Horton.

Earl Wilson posted his first victory as a Tiger, allowing only four hits before he was relieved by Larry Sherry in the eighth. The Senators' run came on Frank Howard's homer in the ninth.

Robinson hit solo homers in the second and eighth innings, his 14th and 15th of the year, while Andy Atchebarren and Sam Bowens also hit for the distance. Etchebarren also doubled home a run off Yankee starter Al Downing, now 6-5.

Jim Palmer, bringing his record to 8-3 with Eddie Fisher's relief help, surrendered both Yankee runs on homers by Joe Pepitone and Mickey Mantle.

Bolt Shoots 3-Under 68 To Lead Western By One

CHICAGO (AP) — Tommy Bolt, now a humorous rather than a furious golfer, has upstaged the Billy Casper-Arnold Palmer vendetta in the $100,000 Western Open which moved into its second round at the tough Medinah course today.

Bolt, once the Terrible Tommy with a club-breaking temper, uncorked a three-under-par 68 Thursday for a one-stroke lead over a runner-up trio including Casper, the new U.S. open champion, and a four-stroke margin over Palmer.

Casper, saying "Now that I'm the National Open champion I've got something to live up to," began his Western Open title defense with a 69. That was matched by Harold (Catfish) Kneece and Doug Sanders.

Palmer, admitting "I'm still playing from last week," trailed in a 12-player tie for 18th place with a one-over-par 72.

His remark referred to his collapse in the National Open at San Francisco when he twice was blitzed by Casper in Sunday's final round and Monday's playoff.

Bolt, 48, an infrequent circuit practioner because of bursitis in his shoulder, enjoyed the spotlight that has escaped him since his last tour victory in the 1961 Pensacola Open.

"I had a typical Palmer round — I was all over the place, everywhere you could possibly go, and still got the ball in the hole," said Bolt of his 32-36 start over Medinah's forest-cramped, par 36-35—71 layout rambling over 7,014 yards.

An opening round hole-in-one was posted by Lionel Hebert, his fifth ace of his career.

Mays Reaches Another Milestone As Giants Lead By 4½

Ties Record Of Williams With 521st

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Back in Willie Mays' mind there is something he has to live with but won't admit.

It's breaking the all-time home run record of 714 by Babe Ruth.

Landmarks are falling before wondrous Willy of the National League leading San Francisco Giants. As his team swept a four-game series from the Chicago Cubs with a 6-4 victory Thursday and moved on to Cincinnati Friday night, Mays had matched Ted Williams' homer production of 521, third on the all-time list.

Jimmy Foxx is second with 534 and it's taken for granted that Willie will catch this one before too long and become the greatest right-handed home-run production man in major-league history.

Mays smashed his 521st in a 13-year career with the Giants and 16th for the season in the first inning Thursday and collected two singles afterward for his first three-hit game since the seventh game of the season.

But, somehow, in the Giants' dressing room afterwards, Willie wasn't impressed. He didn't even talk about surpassing Foxx but did dwell on Ruth's great record.

"I'm 35 years old now and I don't think I'll ever beat out Ruth, or even come close to him," he said. "I don't feel any pressure in beating Foxx's mark. But for Ruth, I would have to average 35 to 40 homers every season for at least four or five more years and that's asking a lot when you don't know if you will be playing regularly. The older you get the fewer homers you will hit.

"I really felt the pressure this spring when guys came around and asked me when I would homer to beat Mel Ott's mark. Now I don't think of it anymore. There's no pressure anymore. The homer I hit Thursday was just another home run as far as I'm concerned.

"The only records I know about is what I read in the papers. But I'll admit you do think of them a little after you read about it.

"I don't even know what pitch I hit for my 521st (there were two men aboard and it was a 2-0 pitch off Dick Ellsworth). As for records, I just don't try to analyze them. When you start doing that you don't break them. There are so many, I don't know what they mean any more. I don't set any goals."

Elsewhere, Cincinnati won its sixth straight, beating Pittsburgh 5-3 and St. Louis edged Houston 2-1.

In the American League, Baltimore whipped New York 5-2, Cleveland downed Boston 8-6 and Detroit defeated Washington 6-1.

Milt Pappas hit a tie-breaking homer and won his sixth game for the Reds with relief help from Don Nottebart. Vada Pinson walloped a two-run homer for the Reds.

Bob Gibson pitched a four-hitter for his 11th victory as the Cardinals shaded the Astros. Gibson struck out four, raising his total for the year to 139.

Lou Brock tripled leading off in the eighth and rode home on Phil Gagliano's single for St. Louis' winning run.

Tipton's 1-Hit Job Features Little League

Jim Tipton fired a one-hitter and fanned 15 batters as Veteran Plate Glass blanked Travelers Hotel, 1-0, Thursday in the Little League.

Randy Harmon had two hits for Veteran Glass and Howell had the only hit for Travelers.

Golden Star received some three - hit pitching from Kevin Francis in a 12-2 victory over Vernon Dell.

Mike Linville had four singles and Tom Coplin three hits to pace Golden Star's 15-hit attack. Henderson doubled and singled for Vernon Dell.

Burbick's posted an 8-3 win over Parson's as Brown was the winning pitcher. Talbott tripled and Jackson doubled for Burbick's with Yanni collecting two singles for Burbick's.

Terrell, Jones Ease Up On Ring Workouts

HOUSTON (AP) — Ernie Terrell, World Boxing Association heavyweight champion, and challenger Doug Jones planned little or no work today.

Bonus Baby Disappears, Waits Action

BOSTON (AP) — Jerry Stephenson, a young right-hander Boston Red Sox in 1962, faced stiff disciplinary action today for his disappearance act.

The 22-year-old Stephenson was suspended without pay, effective Last Friday, when he was assigned on option to Toronto in the International League and failed to report.

Stephenson left Boston last Saturday, presumably headed for Toronto. A search was started when he failed to join the Boston farm club.

The Red Sox were notified Thursday that Stephenson called his mother from Flagstaff, Ariz., and said he was driving to the family home in Anaheim, Calif. The Red Sox then imposed the suspension and said the young hurler was subject to further disciplinary action.

Signed out of high school for a reported bonus of more than $75,000 by his father, Joe, a Red Sox scout, Stephenson had a 1-5 record while bothered by arm trouble as a major league rookie last year.

He showed no sign of arm misery this season, but was ineffective, winning only two of seven decisions with a 5.86 earned run average.

Mike Hershberger of the Kansas City Athletics has the distinction of leading the American League in assists made by outfielders last season. He had 14, two more than Jose Cardenal of the California Angels.

Sterling China Posts 7-1 Win

Jerry Bucher hurled Sterling China to a 7-1 victory over Super Foods by turning in a four-hitter Thursday in the Wellsville Babe Ruth League.

Lee Crook knocked in four runs with two hits while Pierson tripled for the losers. Pugliani was the losing hurler.

'The Rock' Regains Homer Touch

B. Robinson Belts Pair

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's time to stop throwing stones at the Rock.

For Rocky Colavito, plagued by people who have asked him what's happened to his home-run touch, has supplied the answer to his detractors by hammering four homers in a 24-hour period that ended Thursday when he led Cleveland to an 8-6 victory over Boston.

Only last week the 32-year-old Indians' slugger was discussing his pet peeve, the people looking for his home-run touch. But the Rock hadn't lost it — just misplaced it.

"Whenever I'm not going good someone asks me if I've lost my home-run touch," Colavito said. "They want to know every time you have a bad spell. Now that I've been around awhile, they ask it even more often.

"Have I lost my home-run touch?" Colavito asked rhetorically. "No."

Why then was Colavito having such a hard time finding the range this year, following a 1965 season in which he hit only 26 homers?

"Nobody's the same as he was a couple of years ago," said Colavito, who has hit more than 40 homers three times in his 12-year major-league career. "I'm not the real free swinger I used to be. I try to be more consistent now.

"As for right now, I haven't been timing things right. It's usually a simple thing like timing 98 or 99 times out of a 100 that gets you in a slump. But guys are always looking for a real big reason — like you've lost your home-run touch."

Since last week Colavito has hit at a .35' clip and obviously found the home-run range. He hit three in a doubleheader against Boston Wednesday night, then continued his homer hammering with another against the Red Sox Thursday.

While Colavito continued his torrid hitting, the Detroit Tigers did the same, belting out a Washington starter in the first inning for the third straight day as they romped to a 6-1 victory.

The American League leading Baltimore Orioles rode two homers by Brooks Robinson to a 5-2 triumph over the New York Yankees in the only other game scheduled, maintaining their two-game lead over the second-place Tigers and three-game bulge over the Indians.

Colavito's homer, his 11th of the season, broke a 1-1 tie in the third inning and the Indians never were headed. Fred Whitfield, Jim Landis and Chico Salmon also homered for Cleveland.

The Tigers jumped on Mike McCormick for three first-inning runs on walks to Dick McAuliffe and Norm Cash, Al Kaline's two-run double and a single by Willie Horton.

Earl Wilson posted his first victory as a Tiger, allowing only four hits before he was relieved by Larry Sherry in the eighth. The Senators' run came on Frank Howard's homer in the ninth.

Robinson hit solo homers in the second and eighth innings, his 14th and 15th of the year, while Andy Atchebarren and Sam Bowens also hit for the distance. Etchebarren also doubled home a run off Yankee starter Al Downing, now 6-5.

Jim Palmer, bringing his record to 8-3 with Eddie Fisher's relief help, surrendered both Yankee runs on homers by Joe Pepitone and Mickey Mantle.

Bolt Shoots 3-Under 68 To Lead Western By One

CHICAGO (AP) — Tommy Bolt, now a humorous rather than a furious golfer, has upstaged the Billy Casper-Arnold Palmer vendetta in the $100,000 Western Open which moved into its second round at the tough Medinah course today.

Bolt, once the Terrible Tommy with a club-breaking temper, uncorked a three-under-par 68 Thursday for a one-stroke lead over a runner-up trio including Casper, the new U.S. open champion, and a four-stroke margin over Palmer.

Casper, saying "Now that I'm the National Open champion I've got something to live up to," began his Western Open title defense with a 69. That was matched by Harold (Catfish) Kneece and Doug Sanders.

Palmer, admitting "I'm still playing from last week," trailed in a 12-player tie for 18th place with a one-over-par 72.

His remark referred to his collapse in the National Open at San Francisco when he twice was blitzed by Casper in Sunday's final round and Monday's playoff.

Bolt, 48, an infrequent circuit practioner because of bursitis in his shoulder, enjoyed the spotlight that has escaped him since his last tour victory in the 1961 Pensacola Open.

"I had a typical Palmer round — I was all over the place, everywhere you could possibly go, and still got the ball in the hole," said Bolt of his 32-36 start over Medinah's forest-cramped, par 36-35—71 layout rambling over 7,014 yards.

An opening round hole-in-one was posted by Lionel Hebert, his fifth ace of his career.

Australian's Come On Strong At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The powerful Australian tennis contingent today claimed six places in the last 16 of the Wimbledon tournament, and the big question was who can stop Roy Emerson from winning again.

"Emmo is hitting the ball so beautifully," said U.S. Davis Cup team manager George MacCall after watching the champion eliminate one of his American hopes, Charlie Pasarell.

"Is anyone going to stop him? It's a $64,000 question."

The next man to try will be Stan Smith, a 20-year-old from Pasadena, Calif., who battered Keith Wolldridge, one of Britain's bright young prospects, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 in the third round Thursday.

Smith is one of three Americans left in contention. The others are Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., who defeated South Africa's Keith Diepraam 6-2, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1, and Cliff Richey of Dallas, Tex., 6-2, 7-5, 9-7 winner over Frenchman Georges Goven.

The strength of the Australian bid for the title was underlined once more. A second Australian seeded player was eliminated John Newcombe, fifth favorite for the title. The man who mastered him was another Aussie, 26-year-old Ken Fletcher.

In the previous round Fred Stolle, the lanky Australian who has been runner-up three years running, was defeated by Australian Bob Hewitt. Another Australian giant-killer, Owen Davidson, defeated eighth seeded Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, in the second round.

Besides the six Australians and three Americans, those battling for places in the quarterfinals were a South African, a Briton, a Frenchman, an Indian, a Spaniard, a Dutchman and a Dane.

The Spaniard is stylish Manuel Santana, who crushed Davis Cupper Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 6-3, 6-2, 10-8.

Cream Of 3-Year-Old Crop Waits 'Classic'

By ORLO ROBERSTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three-year-old thoroughbreds will race for more than $300,000 in Saturday's top races with the best of division tangling in the Arlington Classic at Arlington Park.

In addition to the Classic, which matches for the first time Kentucky Derby-Preakness winner Kauai King, 1965 2-year-old champion Buckpasser, and Creme dela Creme, winner of seven of eight starts, the turf's sophomores will be seen in action in the Coaching Club Oak at Aqueduct, the Cinema Handicap at Hollywood Park and the Queens Plate at Woodbine in Canada.

The Classic at one mile and the Oaks, at 1¼ miles, are $100,000-added events with the Oaks limited to fillies. The Cinema, 1⅛ miles, and the Queens Plate, 1¼ miles for Canadian foals, each carry a purse of $50,000-added.

Kauai King, making his first start since failing to wrap up the Triple Crown with a fourth in the Belmont Stakes June 4, is topweighted in the Classic under 126 pounds. Buckpasser, with the speedy Impressive as a running mate under 120 pounds, picks up 125 following his flashy showing in last Saturday's Leonard Richards at Delaware Park. Creme dela Creme carried 123.

Michigan Derby winner He Jr; Pretense, winner of the Sheridan Handicap; Crown Land, who ran a mile in 1:33 2-5 last Saturday, and Eladio, runner-up in the Arkansas, Michigan and Ohio derbies, round out the field. With eight starters the Classic will be worth $108,000 with $63,000 going to the winner.

The Oaks is expected to attract 10 with each carrying 121 pounds. Favorites are Lady Pitt, an impressive winner of the recent Mother Goose, and Moccasin, last year's unbeaten 2-year-old filly champion who has failed to show much this season.

Two Eastern campaigners who failed in the one or more of the Triple Crown classics are in a probable field of 12 expected for Hollywood's Cinema. They are Exhibitionist, winner of Hollywood's Argonaut two weeks ago, and Rehabilitate, a recent arrival from New York. They will carry topweights of 124 and 122 pounds, respectively.

The 107th running of the Queen's Plate drew a field of 11 Thursday and, if all start, it will be Canada's richest with a value of $80,175. Titled Hero is the favorite.

Tight Guard Marks Parley Of U.S. Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Communist party is taking no chances on uninvited guests crashing its national convention in a hall on Manhattan's Lower East Side.

Tight security measures include male ushers standing guard at each entrance of the convention hall. They closely eye the convention cards of delegates and observers. Persons not carrying cards are given an about face and told not to return.

"We get enough trouble with the public on the outside, let alone inside here," said one usher.

One usher guards the front door of the hall. Once he is satisfied with a conventioneer's identification, the person then must register at a table inside the lobby. But before entering any meeting room, the person is required to flash his card again.

The Democratic and Republican parties employ similar strict control over admission to the floor at their national conventions, but also have visitors galleries for those unconnected wih the conventions. The Democrats and Republicans do not close floor sessions to the press, as the Communists have done.

Webster Hall, site of the Communist convention, is on East 11th street between Third and Fourth avenues, a slum area that was a settling point for European immigrants early in the century. The area now houses Puerto Rican newcomers.

Weight-Lifting Honors Won By One-Time Local Gridder

A former East Liverpool man who began lifting a broom handle as therapy won a national AAU weight - lifting championship in May at San Jose, Calif.

Don Booth, 31, of Littleton, Colo., captured the middleweight division gold medal, lifting a total of 795 pounds in three events. This was 35 pounds better than the runnerup.

A football player here as a freshman and sophomore in the early 50's, Booth's ambition was to win the Bill Booth Trophy named in memory of a Potter star killed in a traffic accident. The families are not related.

Don dislocated his right arm several times while playing football and had to quit the sport. He couldn't raise the arm for seven years.

Booth weighs 175 pounds, so he has to knock off 10 pounds with pills and dieting before every middleweight meet. He has been Colorado champion the last three years.

Don promised the gold medal to his brother Brian, 15, the "baby" in a family of 10 and a victim of muscular dystrophy.

Mrs. Alma Booth, the mother, and Brian moved from Gardendale to Titusville, Fla., a year ago. Kenneth Booth, the father and a former potter, died 11 years go.

Sisters and brothers in this area are Mrs. Gwendolyn Springer and Robert Booth, both of Gardendale; Mrs. Mabel Weston of the Lisbon - Salineville Rd., and Terry Booth of the Clarkson - Pancake Rd.

Don is an insurance agent in Littleton and resides with his wife, Jean and son Brian at 6932 S. Ash Circle.

Neighborhood boys gather at his garage on workout days four times a week. He gives them all the encouragement he can, knowing there may be a future national champion among them.

Belmont Gets Custody Of Man In Check Case

Two Belmont County deputy sheriffs came to East Liverpool Thursday afternoon to take custody of Wayne F. Porter of 829 Cadmus St. on a charge he issued a fraudulent $120 check to secure the release of two friends arrested at Bridgeport.

The two were in Porter's car, which he had reported stolen late last week from the Horn Switch, police said. After posting bond for the two, he returned the car to East Liverpool, officers said.

Porter was acquitted Thursday in Municipal Court on a local charge that he filed a "false and fictitious" report of the car theft.

Northside Wins 10-9

Northside edged Calcutta 10-9 in a Recreation League game Thursday. Kirk McCall and Mike Stanley had three hits each for Northside while Jim Jolly homered and singled and Bob Black collected a triple and single for Calcutta.

Australian's Come On Strong At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The powerful Australian tennis contingent today claimed six places in the last 16 of the Wimbledon tournament, and the big question was who can stop Roy Emerson from winning again.

"Emmo is hitting the ball so beautifully," said U.S. Davis Cup team manager George MacCall after watching the champion eliminate one of his American hopes, Charlie Pasarell.

"Is anyone going to stop him? It's a $64,000 question."

The next man to try will be Stan Smith, a 20-year-old from Pasadena, Calif., who battered Keith Wolldridge, one of Britain's bright young prospects, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 in the third round Thursday.

Smith is one of three Americans left in contention. The others are Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., who defeated South Africa's Keith Diepraam 6-2, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1, and Cliff Richey of Dallas, Tex., 6-2, 7-5, 9-7 winner over Frenchman Georges Goven.

The strength of the Australian bid for the title was underlined once more. A second Australian seeded player was eliminated John Newcombe, fifth favorite for the title. The man who mastered him was another Aussie, 26-year-old Ken Fletcher.

In the previous round Fred Stolle, the lanky Australian who has been runner-up three years running, was defeated by Australian Bob Hewitt. Another Australian giant-killer, Owen Davidson, defeated eighth seeded Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, in the second round.

Besides the six Australians and three Americans, those battling for places in the quarterfinals were a South African, a Briton, a Frenchman, an Indian, a Spaniard, a Dutchman and a Dane.

The Spaniard is stylish Manuel Santana, who crushed Davis Cupper Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 6-3, 6-2, 10-8.

Cream Of 3-Year-Old Crop Waits 'Classic'

By ORLO ROBERSTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three-year-old thoroughbreds will race for more than $300,000 in Saturday's top races with the best of division tangling in the Arlington Classic at Arlington Park.

In addition to the Classic, which matches for the first time Kentucky Derby-Preakness winner Kauai King, 1965 2-year-old champion Buckpasser, and Creme dela Creme, winner of seven of eight starts, the turf's sophomores will be seen in action in the Coaching Club Oak at Aqueduct, the Cinema Handicap at Hollywood Park and the Queens Plate at Woodbine in Canada.

The Classic at one mile and the Oaks, at 1¼ miles, are $100,000-added events with the Oaks limited to fillies. The Cinema, 1⅛ miles, and the Queens Plate, 1¼ miles for Canadian foals, each carry a purse of $50,000-added.

Kauai King, making his first start since failing to wrap up the Triple Crown with a fourth in the Belmont Stakes June 4, is topweighted in the Classic under 126 pounds. Buckpasser, with the speedy Impressive as a running mate under 120 pounds, picks up 125 following his flashy showing in last Saturday's Leonard Richards at Delaware Park. Creme dela Creme carried 123.

Michigan Derby winner He Jr; Pretense, winner of the Sheridan Handicap; Crown Land, who ran a mile in 1:33 2-5 last Saturday, and Eladio, runner-up in the Arkansas, Michigan and Ohio derbies, round out the field. With eight starters the Classic will be worth $108,000 with $63,000 going to the winner.

The Oaks is expected to attract 10 with each carrying 121 pounds. Favorites are Lady Pitt, an impressive winner of the recent Mother Goose, and Moccasin, last year's unbeaten 2-year-old filly champion who has failed to show much this season.

Two Eastern campaigners who failed in the one or more of the Triple Crown classics are in a probable field of 12 expected for Hollywood's Cinema. They are Exhibitionist, winner of Hollywood's Argonaut two weeks ago, and Rehabilitate, a recent arrival from New York. They will carry topweights of 124 and 122 pounds, respectively.

The 107th running of the Queen's Plate drew a field of 11 Thursday and, if all start, it will be Canada's richest with a value of $80,175. Titled Hero is the favorite.

Tight Guard Marks Parley Of U.S. Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Communist party is taking no chances on uninvited guests crashing its national convention in a hall on Manhattan's Lower East Side.

Tight security measures include male ushers standing guard at each entrance of the convention hall. They closely eye the convention cards of delegates and observers. Persons not carrying cards are given an about face and told not to return.

"We get enough trouble with the public on the outside, let alone inside here," said one usher.

One usher guards the front door of the hall. Once he is satisfied with a conventioneer's identification, the person then must register at a table inside the lobby. But before entering any meeting room, the person is required to flash his card again.

The Democratic and Republican parties employ similar strict control over admission to the floor at their national conventions, but also have visitors galleries for those unconnected wih the conventions. The Democrats and Republicans do not close floor sessions to the press, as the Communists have done.

Webster Hall, site of the Communist convention, is on East 11th street between Third and Fourth avenues, a slum area that was a settling point for European immigrants early in the century. The area now houses Puerto Rican newcomers.

Weight-Lifting Honors Won By One-Time Local Gridder

A former East Liverpool man who began lifting a broom handle as therapy won a national AAU weight - lifting championship in May at San Jose, Calif.

Don Booth, 31, of Littleton, Colo., captured the middleweight division gold medal, lifting a total of 795 pounds in three events. This was 35 pounds better than the runnerup.

A football player here as a freshman and sophomore in the early 50's, Booth's ambition was to win the Bill Booth Trophy named in memory of a Potter star killed in a traffic accident. The families are not related.

Don dislocated his right arm several times while playing football and had to quit the sport. He couldn't raise the arm for seven years.

Booth weighs 175 pounds, so he has to knock off 10 pounds with pills and dieting before every middleweight meet. He has been Colorado champion the last three years.

Don promised the gold medal to his brother Brian, 15, the "baby" in a family of 10 and a victim of muscular dystrophy.

Mrs. Alma Booth, the mother, and Brian moved from Gardendale to Titusville, Fla., a year ago. Kenneth Booth, the father and a former potter, died 11 years go.

Sisters and brothers in this area are Mrs. Gwendoiyn Springer and Robert Booth, both of Gardendale; Mrs. Mabel Weston of the Lisbon - Salineville Rd., and Terry Booth of the Clarkson - Pancake Rd.

Don is an insurance agent in Littleton and resides with his wife, Jean and son Brian at 6932 S. Ash Circle.

Neighborhood boys gather at his garage on workout days four times a week. He gives them all the encouragement he can, knowing there may be a future national champion among them.

Belmont Gets Custody Of Man In Check Case

Two Belmont County deputy sheriffs came to East Liverpool Thursday afternoon to take custody of Wayne F. Porter of 829 Cadmus St. on a charge he issued a fraudulent $120 check to secure the release of two friends arrested at Bridgeport.

The two were in Porter's car, which he had reported stolen late last week from the Horn Switch, police said. After posting bond for the two, he returned the car to East Liverpool, officers said.

Porter was acquitted Thursday in Municipal Court on a local charge that he filed a "false and fictitious" report of the car theft.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

A TV-Grown Candidate

Previous estimates of television's impact on our political life will have to be revised upward if actor Ronald Reagan wins California's gubernatorial election next November.

Hal Humphrey

Many a political candidate has benefited from TV's electronic magic and his ability to use it, probably none more dramatically than the late John F. Kennedy. But candidate Reagan may be said to owe his entire political carrer thus far to TV and some of its by-products.

A bare five years ago, when GE Theater with Reagan as its host-producer was in its final season on TV, a newspaper columnist reported that Reagan had turned down a bid to run for governor of California "because I'm an actor," he said.

"I considered it," the Reagan quote continued, "but then I thought that maybe I could do more good in my present job, keeping up my lectures and all, speaking for as many good causes as possible. Don't get me wrong, though. It was quite an honor to be asked. An actor doesn't get a chance like that very often."

THE "TWO MEN" Reagan said had approached him about running for the state's top office were evidently impressed primarily with the image he had cast for both himself and General Electric on TV since becoming host of the dramatic half-hour series in 1954, a chore which also found him "moonlighting" as a kind of goodwill ambassador for GE with its employees. Reagan frequently visited as many as 15 GE plants on semi-annual speaking tours for the company.

It was during this eight-year association with GE that Reagan moved roughly 180 degrees in his political orbit from liberal Democrat to conservative Republican, and although he states that it was the Democrats who did the rotating, he admits quite readily to having voted for Franklin D. Roosevelt four times.

Even the actor colony in Hollywood was unaware of Reagan's political overhauling until he resigned his presidency of the Screen Actors Guild in 1960 (a post he held once before from 1947 to 1951) to become a producer of GE Theater and switched his speech-making from reports on life in Hollywood to warnings against our government's "drift toward socialism."

REAGAN CONTINUED to act in a few GE dramas each season, but it was Reagan the sincere but affable host who was scoring the biggest impression with home viewers. As one wag said, after watching Reagan introduce an institutional plug on GE's atomic powered submarine, "I really didn't need a submarine, but I've got one now." Not even the Reagan personality, however, could overcome NBC's Cartwright family when Bonanza moved in against GE Theater on Sunday nights at 9. GE Theater folded, and Jack Webb was called in for the 1962-63 season with his True series, but Webb proved defenseless against the Cartwrights, too.

The Reagan show business career languished again (his last movie was a 1956 Columbia quickie with wife Nancy Davis titled "Hellcats of the Navy"). But when Stanley Andrews, "The Old Ranger" on TV's venerable Death Valley Days series, decided to retire as host two years ago, Reagan was suggested for the job by his brother, Neil, a vice-president at McCann-Erickson agency which handles the Borax sponsorship of DVD. Reagan took over for a reported $100,000 a season, about the same income he had with GE.

BOB STABLER, producer of the DVD series, had to sub "guest hosts" for Reagaon after those "two men" gave the actor his second chance to become governor of California (the rest of the country could still watch Reagan under the FCC's "equal time" rules for political candidates), and now Stabler is looking for a new host because he must begin filming the next 26 DVD episodes before the voters decide whether Reagan should be an actor or governor of their state. Stabler says there's no doubt of the outcome.

If any of you are thinking of calling Stabler to audition as Reagan's replacement on DVD, be warned that Stabler considered Reagan's "ability to look honest" as one of his big assets and a characteristic Stabler considers a prerequisite for the job.

Health Director's Decision Due

New Law May Cut Ohio's TB Hospitals One-Third

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A third of Ohio's tuberculosis hospitals may be forced out of operation by a new state law.

The intent of the new law is to regionalize tuberculosis hospitals to save money and improve services by combining facilities.

The final decision on which hospitals remain in operation rests with State Health Director Emmett Arnold.

His decision is expected late next month.

The decision is expected to be that only about 12 of the 18 hospitals now operating will be approved to continue to get state subsidies. Without those payments, operating costs would be so high that hospitals probably could not continue.

The smaller hospitals are expected to be the ones passed over in any regional realignment.

Any change will not affect the two TB hospitals operated by the State Health Department in Columbus and Nelsonville.

Nor would it affect Springview Hospital in Springfield, operated by the Mental Hygiene Department for patients with both tuberculosis and mental disorders.

The regional program would affect the two private TB hospitals and 16 county-support hospitals.

The new law does not require closing of any hospitals. Nor does it specifically require reducing the number of approved tuberculosis hospitals on a regional basis. But regionalization "was the intent of the legislature," said Dr. Walter Evans, chief of the health department's tuberculosis division.

Behind the law is a declining need for specialized facilities for patients with the lung ailment. Ohio hospitals now have 2,400 beds for tuberculosis patients. But only 1,300 to 1,400 of these are occupied each month.

Attention Earth People!

We have just received another message from Howard Benedict.

Howard Benedict at Cape Kennedy, standing in front of a giant missile tracking device, is wearing the splash suit required of all personnel in the launching area.

Every time something takes place or takes off from Cape Kennedy, we hear about it from Howard Benedict. And so do you.

Benedict is the chief aerospace writer for The Associated Press, and one of the chief reasons why our reports of the space program, from the first Alan Shepard flight in the Freedom 7 to the latest space feat, have been so complete and so authoritative.

In seven years, Benedict has witnessed more than 1200 countdowns and spent countless hours with every expert in the space program. He's as much up on the subject as anyone can be who hasn't been up in space.

Howard Benedict, of course, is just one of the many skilled AP reporters, writers, researchers and photographers covering the field. There are dozens of them, and they're all there just to make sure that we get all the news from space. Just so we can get it all to the earth people, our readers.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

A TV-Grown Candidate

Previous estimates of television's impact on our political life will have to be revised upward if actor Ronald Reagan wins California's gubernatorial election next November.

Hal Humphrey

Many a political candidate has benefited from TV's electronic magic and his ability to use it, probably none more dramatically than the late John F. Kennedy. But candidate Reagan may be said to owe his entire political carrer thus far to TV and some of its by-products.

A bare five years ago, when GE Theater with Reagan as its host-producer was in its final season on TV, a newspaper columnist reported that Reagan had turned down a bid to run for governor of California "because I'm an actor," he said.

"I considered it," the Reagan quote continued, "but then I thought that maybe I could do more good in my present job, keeping up my lectures and all, speaking for as many good causes as possible. Don't get me wrong, though. It was quite an honor to be asked. An actor doesn't get a chance like that very often."

THE "TWO MEN" Reagan said had approached him about running for the state's top office were evidently impressed primarily with the image he had cast for both himself and General Electric on TV since becoming host of the dramatic half-hour series in 1954, a chore which also found him "moonlighting" as a kind of goodwill ambassador for GE with its employees. Reagan frequently visited as many as 15 GE plants on semi-annual speaking tours for the company.

It was during this eight-year association with GE that Reagan moved roughly 180 degrees in his political orbit from liberal Democrat to conservative Republican, and although he states that it was the Democrats who did the rotating, he admits quite readily to having voted for Franklin D. Roosevelt four times.

Even the actor colony in Hollywood was unaware of Reagan's political overhauling until he resigned his presidency of the Screen Actors Guild in 1960 (a post he held once before from 1947 to 1951) to become a producer of GE Theater and switched his speech-making from reports on life in Hollywood to warnings against our government's "drift toward socialism."

REAGAN CONTINUED to act in a few GE dramas each season, but it was Reagan the sincere but affable host who was scoring the biggest impression with home viewers. As one wag said, after watching Reagan introduce an institutional plug on GE's atomic powered submarine, "I really didn't need a submarine, but I've got one now." Not even the Reagan personality, however, could overcome NBC's Cartwright family when Bonanza moved in against GE Theater on Sunday nights at 9. GE Theater folded, and Jack Webb was called in for the 1962-63 season with his True series, but Webb proved defenseless against the Cartwrights, too.

The Reagan show business career languished again (his last movie was a 1956 Columbia quickie with wife Nancy Davis titled "Hellcats of the Navy"). But when Stanley Andrews, "The Old Ranger" on TV's venerable Death Valley Days series, decided to retire as host two years ago, Reagan was suggested for the job by his brother, Neil, a vice-president at McCann-Erickson agency which handles the Borax sponsorship of DVD. Reagan took over for a reported $100,000 a season, about the same income he had with GE.

BOB STABLER, producer of the DVD series, had to sub "guest hosts" for Reagaon after those "two men" gave the actor his second chance to become governor of California (the rest of the country could still watch Reagan under the FCC's "equal time" rules for political candidates), and now Stabler is looking for a new host because he must begin filming the next 26 DVD episodes before the voters decide whether Reagan should be an actor or governor of their state. Stabler says there's no doubt of the outcome.

If any of you are thinking of calling Stabler to audition as Reagan's replacement on DVD, be warned that Stabler considered Reagan's "ability to look honest" as one of his big assets and a characteristic Stabler considers a prerequisite for the job.

Health Director's Decision Due

New Law May Cut Ohio's TB Hospitals One-Third

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A third of Ohio's tuberculosis hospitals may be forced out of operation by a new state law.

The intent of the new law is to regionalize tuberculosis hospitals to save money and improve services by combining facilities.

The final decision on which hospitals remain in operation rests with State Health Director Emmett Arnold.

His decision is expected late next month.

The decision is expected to be that only about 12 of the 18 hospitals now operating will be approved to continue to get state subsidies. Without those payments, operating costs would be so high that hospitals probably could not continue.

The smaller hospitals are expected to be the ones passed over in any regional realignment.

Any change will not affect the two TB hospitals operated by the State Health Department in Columbus and Nelsonville.

Nor would it affect Springview Hospital in Springfield, operated by the Mental Hygiene Department for patients with both tuberculosis and mental disorders.

The regional program would affect the two private TB hospitals and 16 county-support hospitals.

The new law does not require closing of any hospitals. Nor does it specifically require reducing the number of approved tuberculosis hospitals on a regional basis. But regionalization "was the intent of the legislature," said Dr. Walter Evans, chief of the health department's tuberculosis division.

Behind the law is a declining need for specialized facilities for patients with the lung ailment. Ohio hospitals now have 2,400 beds for tuberculosis patients. But only 1,300 to 1,400 of these are occupied each month.

We have just received another message from Howard Benedict.

Howard Benedict at Cape Kennedy, standing in front of a giant missile tracking device, is wearing the splash suit required of all personnel in the launching area.

Chicago Police Hold Back Whites Treatening Negroes

CHICAGO (AP) — Helmeted policemen held back a crowd of white persons threatening a group of Negroes playing baseball Thursday night in a South Side lakefront park.

About 75 Negroes, most of them from the Ida B. Wells public housing project, traveled 10 miles to play ball in Calument Park.

A crowd of white people gathered and exchanged jeers and taunts with the negroes. Police arrested several whites and Negroes. Frank Ditto, a leader of the Negroes, was charged with inciting to riot.

Mike Anderson, 18, a Negro, said, "We felt it was our God-given right to go where we wanted to go. In the Ida B. Wells housing development, we don't have grass to play on."

Police pushed the whites back across to a parking lot away from the baseball diamond when the yelling between the two groups became loud.

When they had the crowd, estimated at about 200, corralled about a block away from the Negroes, many of the whites began leaving.

There were angry words exchanged between the Negroes and an integrated group of policemen watching them as the whites were dispersed. Several fire crackers exploded.

Most of the Negroes then were taken from the park in a large police van because police feared more disturbances. They were released outside the neighborhood.

It was the fourth disturbance in five nights at the park. They began Sunday when a crowd of whites mistook two Puerto Ricans for Negroes and chased them from the beach, police said.

Man, 22, Sought In W. Va. Theft Nabbed In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 22-year-old man wanted in connection with a Huntington, W. Va., savings and loan robbery was arrested at his home today, the FBI reported.

Central Ohio FBI Chief W.B. Soyars said Timothy J. Bowers was picked up on a complaint charging him with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for armed robbery.

At the time of his arrest Bowers had a .25 caliber automatic and a .38 caliber revolver in his possession, Soyers said.

Bowers was to appear before U. S. Commissioner William G. Corson later today.

Authorities in Huntington have charged Bowers with the holdup of the Diversified Savings and Loan Association June 16, the FBI said.

Marine Hero Recommended For Highest Combat Award

CHU LAI, South Viet Nam (AP) — A veteran Marine who led his 17 men in a night-long stand against 250 Viet Cong has been recommended by his divisional commander for the Medal of Honor and a battlefield promotion to 2nd lieutenant.

Maj. Gen. Lewis Fields, commander of the 1st Marine Division, recommended the highest U.S. combat award and the commissioned rank for Staff Sgt. Jimmie Howard, 36, who said on arrival in the United States Wednesday that he didn't feel like a hero.

Howard and his men fought down to their last 2 bullets and resorted to knives and rocks in the hillside battle June 16 until reinforcements drove the Viet Cong off.

Only two Marines came out of the fight unmarked. Five were killed and 11, including Howard, were wounded.

Howard is now at Balboa Hospital, in San Diego, Calif., for treatment of shrapnel wounds. On his arrival there on a stretcher, he brushed aside his men's report that his leadership saved their lives.

"I don't feel like a hero," the father of six said. "I was just setting an example for my men. I had a mission to do."

Ed Wynn, 79, Eulogized At Funeral Rites

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Comedian Ed Wynn, the giggly fire chief, everybody's "perfect fool," was a complete human being who "made a rich and meaningful thing of life," his eulogy said.

Wynn, 79, was eulogized at funeral services Thursday as a "funnyman, satirist, lampoonist, comic and cut-up — a zany little man with the funny voice and funny hat." He died Sunday of cancer.

Actor Jack Palance, reading the tribute written by Rod Serling, said Wynn "was a complete human being, with a complete human heart. There will never be another like him. And this is perhaps the principal sadness to attend his passing: That he cannot be replaced."

Fans, friends and the famous attended the services in the stone Church of the Recessional at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. The service began with the organ playing "Tea for Two" and "Around the World in Eighty Days," two of Wynn's favorite songs.

The solemn procession of honorary pallbearers included James Stewart, Red Skelton, Walt Disney, Dick Van Dyke, Cesar Romero and George Stevens.

In the family room were Wynn's actor son, Keenan, with his wife, Sharley and their children, Tracy, 21; Ned, 23; Hilda, 12; Edwyna, 10, and Emily, 6.

Cremation followed the service.

Not To Market, But To Clinic For 2 Pigs

COLUMBIA Mo. (AP) — Not to market, but to the Mayo Clinic, is the destination of two pigs from the University of Missouri.

The university owns the only herd of hemophiliac swine in the world, and since 1938 the hogs have been the subject of many studies of what makes blood coagulate.

At the Rochester, Minn., medical center, the pigs will become part of a joint study into an uncontrolled bleeding condition similar to hemophilia.

Dr. Creighton N. Cornell, assistant professor of agricultural chemistry, said the Mayo researchers will test a blood component which, when injected into the pigs, could favorably affect the bleeding disorder. It could then be tested on human hemophiliacs, he said.

The motor vehicle population of New York State exceeded the six million mark for the first time during 1965. Registration for all types of motor vehicles totaled 6,226,616, an increase over 1964 of 4.3 per cent.

Marine Hero Recommended For Highest Combat Award

CHU LAI, South Viet Nam (AP) — A veteran Marine who led his 17 men in a night-long stand against 250 Viet Cong has been recommended by his divisional commander for the Medal of Honor and a battlefield promotion to 2nd lieutenant.

Maj. Gen. Lewis Fields, commander of the 1st Marine Division, recommended the highest U.S. combat award and the commissioned rank for Staff Sgt. Jimmie Howard, 36, who said on arrival in the United States Wednesday that he didn't feel like a hero.

Howard and his men fought down to their last 2 bullets and resorted to knives and rocks in the hillside battle June 16 until reinforcements drove the Viet Cong off.

Only two Marines came out of the fight unmarked. Five were killed and 11, including Howard, were wounded.

Howard is now at Balboa Hospital, in San Diego, Calif., for treatment of shrapnel wounds. On his arrival there on a stretcher, he brushed aside his men's report that his leadership saved their lives.

"I don't feel like a hero," the father of six said. "I was just setting an example for my men. I had a mission to do."

Ed Wynn, 79, Eulogized At Funeral Rites

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Comedian Ed Wynn, the giggly fire chief, everybody's "perfect fool," was a complete human being who "made a rich and meaningful thing of life," his eulogy said.

Wynn, 79, was eulogized at funeral services Thursday as a "funnyman, satirist, lampoonist, comic and cut-up — a zany little man with the funny voice and funny hat." He died Sunday of cancer.

Actor Jack Palance, reading the tribute written by Rod Serling, said Wynn "was a complete human being, with a complete human heart. There will never be another like him. And this is perhaps the principal sadness to attend his passing: That he cannot be replaced."

Fans, friends and the famous attended the services in the stone Church of the Recessional at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. The service began with the organ playing "Tea for Two" and "Around the World in Eighty Days," two of Wynn's favorite songs.

The solemn procession of honorary pallbearers included James Stewart, Red Skelton, Walt Disney, Dick Van Dyke, Cesar Romero and George Stevens.

In the family room were Wynn's actor son, Keenan, with his wife, Sharley and their children, Tracy, 21; Ned, 23; Hilda, 12; Edwyna, 10, and Emily, 6.

Cremation followed the service.

Not To Market, But To Clinic For 2 Pigs

COLUMBIA Mo. (AP) — Not to market, but to the Mayo Clinic, is the destination of two pigs from the University of Missouri.

The university owns the only herd of hemophiliac swine in the world, and since 1938 the hogs have been the subject of many studies of what makes blood coagulate.

At the Rochester, Minn., medical center, the pigs will become part of a joint study into an uncontrolled bleeding condition similar to hemophilia.

Dr. Creighton N. Cornell, assistant professor of agricultural chemistry, said the Mayo researchers will test a blood component which, when injected into the pigs, could favorably affect the bleeding disorder. It could then be tested on human hemophiliacs, he said.

The motor vehicle population of New York State exceeded the six million mark for the first time during 1965. Registration for all types of motor vehicles totaled 6,226,616, an increase over 1964 of 4.3 per cent.

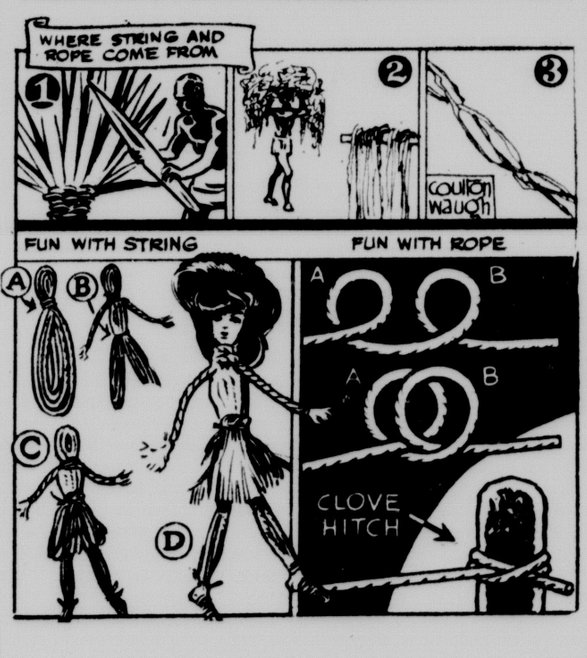
Junior Editors Quiz on STRING



QUESTION: How are string and rope made?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: In parts of Africa and the West and East Indies, there is a plant called the agave or century, whose long, sword-like leaves contain a tough fiber called sisal. The leaves are cut (1). After the sisal is extracted and its fibers separated, it is hung on racks to dry (2). Then the fibers are turned or twisted around each other (3). Such twists are spun tightly together, producing various sizes of string, twine and rope. For strong twine, there are about 14 twists to a foot. Various other plants, such as the abaca of the Philippines, the jute plant of India and the hemp plant, produce fibers often used in making rope and string. To make the fascinating string doll: wind string or yarn around hand is a number of loops. Tie as in (A). Tie again at (B). Separate lower loops and tie at ankles for two legs (C). Make another set of loops with smaller string, tie around waist to form skirt. With black darning cotton, make more loops to attach as haid. Paint face on paper. To tie the clove hitch; Hold rope about a foot from right end with left hand, make another similar loop with right hand (B). Slip (B) above and over (A). Drop the two loops over a post and pull left end to tighten.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Girls: after making the girl doll, try a modern-looking string boy. Boys: find out more about knots. Learn to tie the square knot and that king of knots, the bowline. This knowledege will serve you over and over again.
